CHRIS'S CONTRACT

With Blakemoore, of the Seventh Alabama District

WHEREBY THE LATTER WITHDRAWS

From the Bace and Bitterly Opposes Democracy.

A GOVERNMENT POSITION OFFERED

At a Salary of $100 a Month for Four Years—The Tough Dogument Given in Full.

Birmingham, Ala., October 31.-(Special. J. T. Blakemore, who has been running for congress as a straightout republican, the seventh district, has yielded to Chris Magee's blandishments and retired from the race. The following is the contract between the two:

Know all men by these present, that I, Chris Magee, of the nist part, and J. T. Blakemoore, of the second part, witness that the said Chris Magee, of the first part, does this day enter a contract with J. T. Blakemoore of the second part, for the purpose of inducing Blakemoore to withdraw from the present race for congress of the isoventh congressional district of Alabama. I do agree to furnish him an official booftion as Wash. congressional district of Alabama. I do agree to furnish him an official position at Washington for four years at a salary of $100 per month during the term of four years, and on the event that I am unsuccessful in furnishing the said Blakemoore with the position as above mentioned, I agree to be come personally responsible to the said party of the second part of this contract for $100 per month for the term of four years, and the said Blakemoore, of the second part, in addition to withdrawing agrees to go to the sounty of Delvalo and stunp the county in interest of William M. Wood and to

In addition to the above Blakemore's expenses up to date, amounting to $2,000. are said to have been refunded.

THE ALABAMA SITUATION -

As the Various Campaign Leaders See It Montgomery, Ala., October 31.—(Spe cial.)-The political situation in Alabama is still in a fog. There is no one willing to wager a great deal of money either one way or the other on the result. Three weeks ago, everything pointed clearly to the election of the Weaver and Field electoral ticket; in fact, no one but bitter partisans disputed the claims of the populists. Since then, however, the demoa few are confident that the party will be successful. Colonel D. S. Troy, a wellery, is a staunch supporter of Cleveland and a close friend of General Shelley. chairman of the state campaign committee. Said he to your correspondent today:

"I was with General Shelley a day or two since and he made me acquainted with the inside workings of the commit-I confess before I saw Shelley I had grave doubts about the situation; but I have none now. General Shelley is an old campaigner and is peculiarly qualified for such work as he has had before him, and he has one of the most perfect and compact organizations now ever known in the history of the state-better, even, than that of the late Interstate Commissioner Bragg, when the state was first redeemed from republican and negro domination. I verily believe it is."

Chairman Mosely, of the republican state committee, said to your correspond-

"We are confident of defeating the Cleveland electoral ticket. We know we have the votes and the people are with us and our only fear is that the democrats, having the machinery, will attempt to capture the state by manipulating the ballot boxes. But we have taken every precaution possible, we think, to prevent this. We have issued circulars instructing the federal inspectors as to their duties and powers at the polls. This is in order to prevent frauds and have warned those who may attempt fraud of the danger: and Chairman Bowman, of the Jeffersonian democracy, has issued a circular to his friends to watch the polls to keep a tally sheet of every voter and how he votes and thus to secure evidence to make the conviction less difficult of those who may commit frauds. I tell you the Kolb men are desperately in earnest in this matter and I think the democrats thoroughly understand the situation. Cleveland is as sure to be defeated in this state, if we can get a fair count, as November comes!"

This is about the way the republicans generally talk but there are some serious complications in several districts which the republicans are not willing to admit, or will talk about. For instance, in the fourth district, Judge Craig, the republican nominee, refuses to come down in the interest of the populite or fusion candidate. The same is true of Blackmore, the republican candidate in the ninth; of Austin, the republican can-didate in the eighth; and of Judge Mc-Duffie, the republican candidate in the tenth. Just what effect this condition of affairs will have on the resultt it is hard to tell and failing to keep faith with the fusionists in their districts may cause the fusionists to trade with the straightouts for congressmen, the fusionists agreeing to vote for the Cleveland electors for the vote for congressman. This is one of the possibilities and is one of the peculiar features of the campaign that adds to its complications and uncertainties.

Democrats admit that they will lose three and perhaps more congressmen. They think Oates in the third, Wheeler in the eighth, Clark in the first and ingham, Ala., October 31.-(Special.) Chris Magee is here again bringing with him the one million and a half of tickets for the fusionists, which he had printed in Pittsburg. The fusion, third party and re-publican leaders are swarming around him rictsourg. The fusion, third paround him publican leaders are swarming around him like bees. It is believed that he has brought an unlimited supply of money, which it is proposed to use in corrupting election managers, and there is no question about the intention to carry Alabama if money and leputy marshals can do it.

POLITICAL ASSESSMENTS.

The First Case Reported to the Attorney Washington, October 31.—The civil service commission has reported to the attorney general for criminal prosecution under the law against soliciting political contributions, the case of Samuel Thomas, treasurer of the republican state committee of New York. The charge is sending letters of solicitation to government clerks here. The documents in each case are forwarded with the report. The letters call for no specific sum, but request the contribution of such an amount as the recipient may choose to give toward the necessary and legitimate expenses of the campaign.

How Ewart works It.

Charleston, S. C., October 30.—H. G. Ewart, expepiblican congressman from North Carolina, was in Charleston last week soliciting funds for the national republican campaign committee from federal office holders in this city. He kept very quiet but held many conferences with the office holders while here. Following is a copy of a letter sent by Ewart to office holders.

"Charleston, Outober, 1892.—Dear Sir:—Your dame has been given me by your friends here as one likely to all the cause. You must appreciate its importance. Funds are urgently needed and at once. Plense be prompt. Delay is tantamount to refusal. That you have already rendered local aid is no reason or excuse for not assisting in this, which is of far greater importance than focal contests. I enclose certificate No. — which I am assured you will take. If so please fill name and address and mall with amount of dollars, to me as per address given below. If not taken, return the certificate at once to same address unless it is convenient for you to pay the amount by November 1st, in which event aretain the certificate at once to same address unless it is convenient for you to pay the amount by November 1st, in which event aretain the certificate answer is expected. Yours respectfully, "P. S.—If a certificate has been sent you, will you be kind enough to respond at once or return the same."

CARLISLE IN NEW YORK. Cooper Union Crowded-And a Fine Speed

New York, October 31.—Four thousand peo ple crushed themselves into Cooper Union to night to listen to speeches by Senator John G Carlisle, of Kentucky, and Wendell C. Warner of Cattaraugus county, upon the tariff. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Reform Club. On the platform were a number of the leaders of the "anti-snapper" move

Mr. Carlisle said the fifty-first congress during the two years of its existence, appropriated out of the public treasury more than one thousand and thirty-five million dollars. Every dollar of that sum, he said, had to be Every dollar of that sum, he said, had to be paid by the taxpayers and every dollar must have been produced by the labor of the country. If there were nothing more involved in the campaign than that question of expenditure it would be the duty of every elector to put the seal of condemnation upon the policy of the republican party, for the avowed purpose of that party was to discriminate and to secure to some benefits at the expense of all.

to secure to some benefits at the expense of all.

The democratic party did not propose to do this, but merely to raise revenue for taxation which the expenses of government deemed it necessary to impose. The democratic party had not, however, declared for free trade. It had simply declared for the constitutional system of taxation in which revenue was to be raised for the support of the grammar, which oppessing the people and without compelling one man to part with his earnings for the benefit of another. To tax is the most arbitrary and despotic power that any government can possess. If there is no limit of the scope of this power it rollows that the people hold all their earnings and all their property at the mere will and suffrage of congress. It is impossible to imagine a more disastrous or un-American doctrine than this. If this power exists by whatever name it may be known, it is despotism.

Instead of relying upon the patriotism of the ism.

Instead of relying upon the patriotism of the people, as it claims to do, the republican party appeals to their selfishness and their prejudices. The McKinley bill was passed for the purpose of getting contributions for the republican campaign. The McKinley bill, it is professed, was passed in the interests of the laboring men. Every laboring man knows that while it has increased his expenditures that while it has increased his expenditures it has not increased his wages. Major McKluley says the effect of the bill has been to establish two infant industries—the pearl button industry and the manufacture of tin plate. The figures that he gives in support of this claim shows that there have been $5,445,000 more paid out to workmen than the total output of the tin plate industry. (Laughter.) I would like to know how long that new industry can continue to live. At that rate, all the manufacturers should be able to board their workmen at the Fifth avenue hotel. (Laughter.)

Mr. Carlisle appealed to them in conclusion to vote the democratic ticket from top to bottom. (Applause.)

to vote the democratic ticket from top to bottom. (Applause.)
They should support the man who believed that a public office was a public trust—a man who will not prostitute the powers of high office for mere partisan purposes, but who would labor always for the best interests of the common people. (Cheers.)

MINNESOTA CLAIMED BY ALL.

The Vote Will Be Large-A Poll of the St. Paul, Minn., October 31.—Indications point to a vote of about 280,000 for the state, against 262,000 in 1888. About 10,000 of the increase will be in the cities of Minneapolis and Duluth and the mining regions of St. Louis county. The democrats have made a pretty complete poll of the state outside of the large cities and the republicans have polled here and in this county. The populists have made no poll whatever, owing to a lack of funds. They claim that Donnelly will secure 100,000 votes and be elected governor.

Secretary Smalley, of the democratic committee, says: "The democrats are going to do far better than they expected at the outset. They are going to help the Weaver men elect four presidential electors. The populists and the democrats are going to have a good majority in the legislature, Daniel W. Lawler will be the next governor and the cougressional delegation will be made up of four democrats, two republicans and one populist."

Asked as to the outlook, Chairman Jamison, of the republicans are coming back to us in these last days of the campaign, and we shall have safe pluralities on all our candidates. Knute Nelson will be elected St. Paul, Minn., October 31.-Indications

"Old-time republicans are coming back to us in these last days of the campaign, and we shall have safe pluralities on all our candidates. Knute Nelson will be elected governor by a plurality from 15,000 to 20,000. Five of the Harrison electors will win by 20,000 and the other four by 4,000 to 5,000. The legislature will have a republican plurality."

The campaign from all appearances has been pressed vigorously, and leaders declare they will sweep everything. The fact is that neither populists nor the demorats have made a poll of the state. The republicans have carefully polled every county twice and on their estimates say they have given every doubtful vote to the opposition. There is 33,000 of this class and it is safe to say that ten tons of literature have been sent them. The republicans are offering even bets that they will elect their electoral and legislative ticket and they will get seven of the eight congressmen.

The neonle's party leaders insist that and they will get seven of the eight congressmen.

The people's party leaders insist that they will carry their electoral, state and legislative ticket and that they will elect five out of the eight congressmen They deny that there is any appreciable falling off in their vote, and claim that the republicans who are figuring on that will be sadly disappointed. They claim 45,000 majority for the electoral ticket 36,000 for the state ticket and a working majority in both branches of the legislature.

Chairman Jones of the democratic committee, has telegraphed the national committee that the vote in Kansas on November 8th is one that no one can with certainty predict. The fight, it is believed, will be close and whichever party wins, will do so by close margin.

CAPTAIN IREDELL DENIES THE CHARGES And Says He Can Explain Everything Have the Banking Laws Been Violated?

Columbia, S. C., October 31.-(Special Captain C. J. Iredell was today arrested on a charge of embezzling the sum $25,000. For some thirteen years Captain Iredell was a leading and very prominent citizen of Columbia. He was president of the Commercial bank and was regarded as one of the most solid of the city's business men. Probably no man in Columbia has been looked upon as sounde in views and in character than he. About eighteen months ago Captain Iredell suddenly resigned the presidency of the bank without any apparent cause and shortly afterward a suit was entered by Levi Metz, of Lexington, whose money started the bank. This case has been be fore the master of Richland county ever since and will probably be decided finally at the next term of court. In the mean time Captain Iredell removed to Norfolk, where he has been ever since.

The community hardly expected that he would be further involved in the matter, as the case seemed to be a conof the bank ought to go to Metz or to the bank as reorganized. Captain Iredell had turned them over to the bank and Last Monday Metz swore out a warrant for the arrest of Captain Iredell on the charge of violating the banking laws of the state and for breach of trust of funds. Captain Iredell was telegraphed to and he responded in person by coning to the city today. He went before Trial Justice Perry, and waiving a preliminary examination, he was admitted to bail in the sum of $2,000.

The affidavit charges that fredell, while precident of the bark harrested $50.000.

president of the bank, borrowed $50,000 as manager of a partnership which had existed between Metz and himself and existed between Metz and himself and that Iredell, as agent of one J. D. Pickard and individually, in his own name, in vio-lation of the statute, it alleges, did "n-tentionally make and keep false books and accounts of the transactions in tran-ferring deposits from the partnership to the incorporated bank," and in many other particulars violated the statute. It further alleges that Iredell did by false and fraudulent representations made to this deponent in writing of the condition of the said partnership bank, obtain from said bank large sums in various amounts aggregating at least $15,000. "This deponent," says the affidavit, "is further informed and believes that the said Iredell, between the 4th of December, 1883, and the 12th of February, 1891, did fraudulently take and use and thereby commit a breach of trust in other large bank to the amount of at least $10,000 in violation of section 2493 of the general statutes of South Carolina." Captain Iredell says that he is entirely innocent of wrong doing and that he car satisfactorily explain the charges.

Kid Hogan knocked Dolly Lyons out in ten rounds. Hogan had clearly the better of the battle at the fourth round and was hitting his opponent at will. Lyons forced the fighting in the fifth and seventh and scored a clean knock down. Hogan was getting tired in the ninth. His weight began to tell. The fight was fast and furious, each man doing his level best, but Hogan did most of the work and the referee decided the fight in favor of Hogan. Lyons gave Hogan the fight of his life.

CEREMONIES AT WITTENBERG

On the Rededication of the Restored Church of Marcin Luther. Berlin, October 31.—Emperor William, he empress and three of their sons started from Potsdam at 8 o'clock this morning for Wittenberg, where they will take part in the rededication of the restored church, to the doors of which Luther nailed his famous thesis against papel indulgences. They were accompanied by the duke of York, Prince Gustaf, the crown prince of Sweden, Prince Albrecht, the regent of Brunswick, duke of Oldenberg, prince of Saxe-Leimingen and Chancellor von Caprivi.

Wittenberg, October 31.—On the arrival of the imperial party at the railway station here they were welcomed by Prince Stolberg Wernigode, who conducted them to the town hall. The railway station is ome distance from the town and the whole oute was lined with troops. Back of the oldiers the crowd stood four or five deep for the entire distance. The emperor wore the uniform of an officer of the Gardo du the station to the town hall, and as he moved while the crowds shouted and cheered through the lines of troops they presented arms while the crowds shouted and cheered enthusiastically.

The imperial party were received at the town hall by the burgomaster of Wittenberg, who, on behalf of the municipal anthonties, read an address to the emperor. When this was finished and the emperor had replied in a few words, thanking the town officials for their good wishes, the procession began to move. At the head of the procession, which formed in the market place directly in front of the town hall, were the highest Protestant clergy of the empire, including the president of the exangelical superior council and general superintendent of the Lutheran church. These were followed by a large number of clergymen of lesser note. Then came a long line of generals of the army in full understand the procession of the members of the landtag and many officials from the civil, military and naval departments. Then came the Protestant princes of Germany with their retinues and representatives of Protestant foreign sovereigns. The emperor and his suite brought up the end of the procession under the escort of a squadron of cavalry. Included in the procession were the festival committee, various municipal and district afficials and many religious societies.

The line moved slowly across the market place in the direction of the church lines of troops guarded the route and assoon as the order was given for the procession to move, the church belis began to be market place in the direction of the church to all the strain of "Eine Festeburg" broke forth from the instruments of trumpeters stationed in the tower of the castle church.

When the imperial party had taken the seats assigned to them, Dr. Schaltz, leader of the church in Saxony, opened the services. Dr. Viregge, court chaplain, preached a sermon, taking his text from Romans iii: 24—"Being justified freely by the grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus."

Upon conclusion of the services the imperial party drove to the author's house, where the emperor signed the deed of dedication.

The tips of Iams's toes, alone, were on the ground. Iams was spitting to-bacco juice. The officer of day gave him a chew. Iams asked for it. Almost immediately before Iams was cut down Col. Streator said to the doctors that if the prisoner hung longer it might injure him physically. When Iams was cut down he sank to the ground. Witness did not hear Iams say when Col. Streator got through amusing himself that he could cut him down. He had heard Iams say: "If Streator expects me to take back what I said, he can cut me down dead."

Private Robert V. Kent testified that he heard Streator say: "Do not let him hang long enough to do material injury." Iams was immediately cut down. Private Kent testified that on the next Monday night after the punishment he heard Streator say that Iams had better keep out of his way or he would shoot him. This remark was made after Streator had heard the rumor that Iams intended shooting him on sight.

Charleston, S. C., October 31.-Charles ton's gala week opened today with the ringing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the bells of St. Michael's church. All shipping in port is handsomely decorated and the stars and stripes float from the peak of every mast. The principal business streets have been profusely decorated with bunting and the flags of all nations; but "Old Glory" has the place of honor in every display. The national flag floats over the city hall, all public buildings, at The News and Courier office, and on many private residences.

Not a single confederate flag is sight. The people feel that the war is over and this celebration is designed to be an everlasting memorial to the gratitude of this city for the assistance of nations in the time of distress.

Receiving the Naval Officers. This morning, Commander Brownson of the Dolphin, and Lieutenant Schro of the Vesuvius, called at the city hall and paid their respects to Mayor Ficken. They were cordially received and were extended the freedom of the city. At 1 o'clock the officers of the Dolphin and Vesuvius were entertained at lunch by the Gala Week Association at St. Charles hotel. Mr. I. A. Enslow, president of the asso-ciation, welcomed the officers in an elo-quent speech and Captain Brownson made a brief but appropriate response. A Drive Over the City.

After luncheon the officers were driven around the city in carriages accompanied by the officers of the Gala Week Association and prominent men of the city. The officers express themselves as highly delighted with the reception and entertainment. Tomorrow they will be taken to the country for a deer hunt and while here will be tendered a banquet at the Charleston hotel, a ball at the Hibernian hall, under the auspices of the Carolina Yacht Club, and a private dinner and reception while they stay.

Thousands of visitors are expected in Charleston this week. Trains coming in today are well filled and on trains to arrive tonight there is said to be standing room only and the hotels and boarding houses will be packed before tomorrow night.

Tonight there will be a beautiful display of fireworks on Colonial lake and for each day of the week splendid attractions have been provided.

Bumbardment of Fort Sullivan In deference to the alleged disturbed condition of political sentiment in certain quarters it is proposed to change the bombardment of Fort Sumter, provided for Thursday night, to the bombardment of Fort Sullivan away back about the time of the American revolution when Sir Peter Parker, the bloated Britisher, put to sea under fire from the guns of Fort Sullivan. As the bombardment will be at night there will be no flags displayed on the flatboats and tugboats, all of which were built in Charleston, that will take part in the pyrotechnic affair, and some of the tugboat captains have so far made no objection to being called British captains—just for the night The great American people may rest as sured that no insult will be offered the United States flag. People down this way are beginning to realize that appropriations go with that flag, and they are sticking close to it. The naval officers will not take part in the bombardment of Fort Sullivan, nor Fort Sumter, but will enjoy the fire works from the shore, where ample arrangements will be made for them so they can make observations.

MUST RESPECT THE FLAG And Not Even Make a Sham Attack

Upon It. Washington, October 31.-The officials of the navy department are watching with some apprehension, the course of events at Charleston, S. C., where beginning today, there is to be a celebration of "Gala Week" Charleston, S. C., where beginning today, there is to be a celebration of "Gala Week" in commemoration of the escape of the city from total destruction by the earthquake of 1886. At the request of citizens the United States steamships Dolphin and Vesuvius have been sent to the city to participate in the celebration. The vessels arrived there yesterday. The apprehension of the naval officers is caused by the announcement in the press that the naval bombardment of Fort Sumter is to form a part of the programme. If any such intention has taken shape in the official programme the navy department would have promptly countermanded the orders of the naval vessels, for Commodore Ramsey says that he would not for a moment tolerate the idea that a vessel of the United States navy should participate in the attack, even though it were a sham attack on the national flag. The officials have concluded that as no official programme of the celebration has been brought to the attention of the department there is at present no basis for official action. So it has been decided to leave the question as to the participation of the vessels in the celebration to the discretion of Commander Brownson, of the Dolphin, senior officer of the little fleet and every confidence is felt at the department in the soundness of his judgment.

USURPING AUTHORITY. Republican Election Officers Make a Big

Raleigh, N. C. October 31.—(Special.)—There is much excitement at the democratic headquarters here tonight caused by the gross usurpation of anthority by United States supervisors of election. These, last Saturday made demand upon R. G. Reid, registers of elections in Halifax county for his books containing list of voters registered, saying they wanted to inspect and copy them. Held refused to permit the inspection. The supervisors thereupon telegraphed A. W. Shaffer, who is postmaster here and also United States commissioner, and chief supervisor of election, asking what they must do. One of the supervisors is a third party man, and the other negro republican. pervisors is a third party man, and the other a negro republican.

Anafter wired them to arrest Reid and to take him before no other commissioner but bring him here. Shaffer ciaiming he had ja-risdiction. Reid was brought here this even-ing and was required to give $1,000 bond for appearance at Federal court. This arrest is worth five hundred votes to democracy in Hallian county alone. Some of the best lawyers in the state tonight, at the request of Democratic Chairman Simmons have prepared an opialon in which they say Shaffer has far exceeded his powers in his zeal to serve the party under which he holds office, and that section 202 of the United States revised statutes has been violated by the supervisors who utes has been violated by a supervisor who ararrested Held.

No Matter How the Election Goes There Wil

Portland. Oregon. October 31.—The coming elections give promise of bringing the state of Oregon into national prominence as in 1876. In obedience to instructions from the democratic national committee, the democrats have withdrawn one of their electors and substituted one of the people's party electors in his stead. The republican county clerks have grouped Pierce, the candidate in question, only with the people's party nominees, followed by the words: "People's party, democrats will contest and if he succeeds the republicans will contest and if he succeeds the republicans will contest on the ground that the election law provides that the name of nominees shall appear on the ballot in but one place, whereas in the democratic and people's party county ticket it appears twice.

THE CONSPIRACY NOT PROVEN.

Dilatory Statements of the Witnesses Show There Was None. Montgomery, Ala., October 3L.—(Special.)
The second hearing in the case of the seven citizens of Henry county, charged with having thrown eggs at S. S. Boith, nominee for elector on the third party or the property of the county.

The second hearing in the case of the seven citizens of Henry county, charged with having thrown eggs at S. S. Boith, nominee for elector on the third party or fusion ticket and Captain R. T. Kolb when they attempted to make a third party speech at Gordon the 2d. and thus breaking up the meeting, came up before commissioner Roper today.

Omy three winglesses were examined, all or make a third party speech at Gordon the speakers, but more of them gave evidence tending to establish the essential of a conspiracy between any two of the defendants arraigned. Floyd, a negro living near cordon, testified that one of the defendants said that if rotten eggs would not stop the meeting winchester bails would. Dr. L. W. Manning, a negro campaign speaker, who was present gave substantially the same evidence. Major S. S. Booth was the last witness examined and outside of the fact that he saw one of the accused passing the crowd with two weights in his hand which he said impressed more than anything else which there—impressed him even more than the egg that struck him, his evidence did not throw much light on the subject of conspiracy.

A breezy and sesational incident of the proceedings occurred when Colonel Tompkins, attorney for the defendants, asked Major S. S. Booth who was on the witness stand.

"Have you ever publicly stated for whom you would vote for president of the United States in case of your election?"

The court here held that the witness meed not answer the question unless he wished and further stated that he did not feel obliged to record the answers as a part of the testimony. This led to a spirited till between Colonel Tompkins and the court as to rights of the defendants in the premises which the witness received by proceeding to answer with the utmost sang froid as follows: "I have announced frequently that the Lakeview convention nominated a fusion ticket and that I am a candidate on that ticket and without committing any other election into the house. In my public speeches I do not talk about presidenti

The Rolling Mill Company Receivership

The Rolling Mill Company Receivership Applications for Receivers.

Rome, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—For the second time the Rome Rolling Mill Company, makers of cotton ties, has gone into the hands of a receiver.

For some time past several small creditors have been pressing their claims. Last Saturday a bill was filed by C. A. Thornwell for the creditors asking for a receiver, and today Judge Henry appointed Sheriff J. C. Moore temporary receiver, and he has taken charge of the property of the company. The amounts claimed by the bills are small, but it is said that there is $3,500 due the hands.

The mill is located in west Rome and went through a receivership about three years ago. There will be a final hearing of the bill on November 9th for a permanent receiver.

Columbus, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—While the other cities of the country have been having their Columbus anniversary. Columbus, Ga., has been saving itself for the grandest celebration that will take place in the south this year. This will be "Merchants' Day" at the Chattahoochee Valley exposition, Wednesday, November 2d, has been set apart for this popular jubilee.

The arrangements are in the hands of the Columbus drummers, the measure of whose entertainment never runs dry, as the hundreds who have enjoyed their hospitality can teatify. Headquarters will be at the Rankin house, where cold fea will be on ice all the morning. The exposition, with the races will take up the afternoon. At night a grand reception will be given at the spacious Casino, at North Highlands park. This is Columbus' new park, of which her citizens are justify proud. The Casino is the hai dsomest in the south: over a thousand can be counfortably entertained under its rcof. Three thousand invitations have been issued and the rates will be 1 cent a mile. The merchant who stays away will never know what he has missed. Every traveler in Georgia and Alabama is cordially invited. Old Columbus never does anything by halves, and Merchants' Day of '92 promises to be her red letter day in the rates that the merchant who attends won't need any one to tell him "where he is at."

The Waterworks Bonds of Athens Purchased Here.

ATLANTA TRUST AND BANKING COMPANY

The Purchaser-The Outlook for the Waterworks-Bmash-Up in the Macon and Northern Yards at Athens.

Athens, Ga., October 31.-(Special.)-Ath-

Athens, Gn., October 31.—(Special.)—Athen's water bonds were sold today.

And Atlanta bought them.

The bids for the $125,000 water bonds recently voted by the people of Athens to build a new system of waterworks were opened today. After a careful consideration of the several bids, their conditions and provisions, that of Mr. Alonzo Richardson, of the Atlanta Trust and Banking Company, was accepted, and the award formally made to that institution. All the issue except twenty-nine are thirty year, gold bonds, bearing 5 per cent. One bond is to be retired each year, making twenty-nine to be retired inside of thirty years.

The entire issue was sold at net par to the city and in addition to the Atlanta Trust and Banking Company, the purchasers agreed to pay for all the engraving, etc., in The city is also to receive 3 per cent in terest on all the money left with the bank until it is needed to carry on the work. This is regarded as an exceptionally good sale by the people here and they are congratulating the finance committee. They are glad that the progressive Atlanta company were the successful bidders. In fact, all things considered, the people are happy so far as the bond matter enters into their feelings.

If no action to prevent is taken by the old water company, the construction of the new water system will be commenced within a few days. Mr. Howard Neely, the young Chattanoogaian to whom the construction contract was awarded, is a shrewd, thorough business man, and one of the most successful and reliable contractors in the suoth. He will build the plant in the time and in conformity with the conditions prescribed to the letter.

It is believed that the old water company is now preparing another bill of injunction which will be filed against the city before work can be started on the new plant just what their grounds for action will be is hard to surmise owing to the complicated status of the case, and it is equally as hard to prophesy what will be the result. If it is started at all it will be a fight to the death and may cause the city much trouble. There and may cause the city much trouble. There is a great deal of feeling between the city and the old company and no concessions will be made on either side.

A Bad Wreck. There was a bad smashup of a freight and a passenger train in the Macon and Northern yards this afternoon about 2 o'clock.

One man had his back broke and one his leg, and the wonder is that they with half a dozen others were not killed outright.

As the Macon and Northern passenger train due to leave here at 3:40 was backing up to the yards to make up prepartory for departing for Macon it collided with a Richmond and Danville freight, literally tearing both engines into nices.

mond and Danville freight, literally tearing both engines into pieces.

The freight train was running about twelve miles an hour and the passenger was making very near the same time.

When the train hands saw that a collision was unevilable they sprung from their posts, that is those of them that could, and no doubt by their action saved their lives. The fireman on the freight train had his leg broken and a colored train hand's back was broken. The damage to train property was heavy, as both engines were badly wrecked and other property damage done.

Last night at Bradleys just below Monticello on the Macon and Northern road, an old negro man, who could not be identified was found cut in pieces on the track. ## ATLANTA GETS THEM. SAYS GOD TOLD HIM THE COTTON RATES.

To Drown His Little Children and Shoot His Sister-in-Law.

DR. G. W. KEELEY BECOMES INSANE

Through Religious Frenzy and Tries to Exterminate His Family—A Very Sad Story.

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)— Louisville, Ga., was thrown into a fever of excitement Saturday morning by the an-nouncement that Dr. G. W. Kelly, one of the most prominent physicians of the county, had become insane and had attempted to kill his little eight-year-old girl by throw-ing her in a forty-foot well and had shot his sister-in-law for interfering.

The affair is sad and most shocking, both on account of his prominence as a physician and because of the high esteem in which he has heretofore been held.

It seems that Dr. Kelly has for some time been suffering from mental aberration and religious fanaticism.

His friends and relatives have noticed his condition, but thought it nothing unusual, as he was given to such spells here-tofore harmless. His insanity culminated on Saturday in his attempt to destroy his entire family. He urged as his excuse for attempting the horrible deed that God had commanded him to kill his family to save their souls. He said God had told him that unless he killed his wife and children their souls would be lost, that he felt he was doing an act for which he would be justi-fied in heaven. He laughed while talking of the affair and seemed disappointed that horrible design had been frustrated. Owing to the urgency of the case he was given a speedy trial and taken at once to he asylum on the night train by Sheriff

W. W. Rhodes and Mr. I. F. Farmer.
Sheriff Rhodes and Mr Farmer, after fulfilling their sad mission, stopped over in the city. They say that excitement runs high in Louisville, and the community is greatly stirred up over the horrible affair. The unfortunate woman whom he shot is in a citical condition, and will probably die, but the attending physicians say there is a chance for her recovery. The wounds are of a serious nature. The first ball entered her chin and came out at the back of her neck. The second shot took effect near the spine, ranging upwards, lodging near the hip. When the unfortunate sister-in-law first realized the extent of Dr. Kelly's madness he had already thrown his little daughter in the well. With a scream she rushed forward and tried to prevent his murderous intent. At this he drew his revolver and fired. She ran into the house followed by the infuriated father. Seeing no other way to escape she leaped from a window. As she did so he fired the second time and struck her in the back.

Her screams attracted the neighbors, and sister-in-law first realized the extent her in the back.

Her screams attracted the neighbors, and after a fearful struggle the would-be infanticide and murderer was overcome. In the meantime the piteous wails of the child in the well attracted the crowd to that point. By what seemed a miracle she had not sunk beneath the water. After a number of attempts the bucket was lowered sufficiently for the child to get into it. Standing knee-deep in the water which was in the bucket and clinging to the rope, she was drawn to the top. The child is ill from the effects of the fright, and her condition is said to be critical.

THAT ROAD TO NEWMAN.

Colonel Berry Says He'll Give $5,000 To-Wards It.

Franklin, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—
We have always considered a railroad from Franklin to Newnan a feasible enterprise. Colonel Berry, Newnan's most successful banker and financier, is of the successful banker and mancier, is of the same opinion.

While in Newnan a few days ago a reporter met him, and among other things spoke of this project.

"I can't get my consent to dismiss an enterprise of that sort from my mind, said Colonel Berry, "and why the people of Newnan and Franklin don't get together and push it, I can't divine. I am just as well satisfied that it would pay as I am that any business in Newnan will pay.

But I am not making a proposition or hid that any business in Newnan will pay. But I am not making a proposition or bid to boom this line myself, for I arranged for and made a proposition to build it once and was ignored, but you may quote me as having enough confidence in it to do as much for it as anybody.

"Why," said he, "I'd be willing to donate $5,000 towards it, and in stock on a substantial basis I would do much more."

Colonel Berry talked at length regarding the enterprise, its feasibility and its value as an investment and a feeder to Newnan and developer of Franklin and Heard

A road to Newnan could be built and A road to Newman could be built and operated cheaply. A small amount of money and the bonding of the line for the remainder would quickly eventuate in binding Newman and Franklin by bars of steel, and if Newman and Franklin had a few more such men of enterprise as Colonel Berry, a line of railroad would soon traverse the distance between them.

News reached the city today of the killing of Ben Dukes by Jack Bell, a well-known and well-to-do farmer of Calhoun county.

The killing took place in Edison, the home of Bell, and was the result of a difficulty of several days' standing. It began in Ar-lington, where Dukes threatened Bell's life, and when renewed in Edison Bell shot and instantly killed Ben Dukes and then shot and seriously wounded Dukes's father. The community is very much excited over the affair, but it is thought to be justifiable THE COUNCIL AT WORK.

Augusta, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—A big real estate deal was made today. J. B. White bought Lee Roy Miller's property on Mount square for $10,000. It is said Mr. White is negotiating to purchase Dr. A. W. Calhoun and H. B. King's property adjoining, and if he succeeds he will build the handsomest dry goods store south of New York.

The city council tonight came down on lawyers, doctors, dentists, railroad and bank presidents and other professional men and will try to collect a business tax license from them. A resolution reported by the finance ommittee requesting the legislature to repeal the state law exempting this favored class was adopted. The preamble calls for equal rights and no discrimination and for a specific tax on professions. The council also passed an ordinance which does away with shooting of dogs. Owners of canines will be requested to register their pets and pay license upon them the first of each January.

The Central May Have to Acknowledge the Corn.

DISDRIMINATION AGAINST MACON

Charged by the Business Men of the City The News of the Day in the Central City.

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—It looks as if the Central railroad would have to acknowledge the corn and begin over again on a basis of fairness and impartiality The cotton warehousemen of Macon are unanimous in their endorsement of the po-sition taken by The Constitution and the statement contained in yesterday's paper, This morning The Con dent was given a full insight into the in-dictment that has been prepared.

It was at first intended to bring the matter before the railroad commiss and to put it upon the same ground as the decision gained by Tit & Co., where the same bill of lading was ordered between Americus and Brunswick as between Americus icus and Savannah. But the cotton men of Macon having confidence in the eminent fairness of Judge Emory Speer, who is virtually the head of the Central railroad, decided to lay the matter first before him.

When it was decided to take this latter step first all the papers had been prepared to go before the commission. The complaint was to have been presented by Mr. I. B. English and was supported by a petition signed by every cotton warehouse firm in Macon, the bank officials and the leading

The bill of indictment very plainly sets out that the cotton and factory business, the banking, commercial and business interests of the city of Macon will be very seriously injured and hindered if this policy of the Central railroad continues.

One very prominent cotton man told The Constitution correspondent this morning that if this present state of affairs was allowed to continue he would close his business, take his compress out of commission and retire. He says the city of Macon is now being made a road station and nothing

The actual figures are that the through

The actual figures are that the through bill is 39 cents and the combined local rates are 53 cents, a difference of 14 cents, which practically pre-empts all the business for the Central railroad.

One of the complaints made by the factors here is that this year as for many years back they have advanced money to farmers, the money being to cover expenses of planting cotton, and the understanding was that the loan was to be repaid in cotton and not in kind. But the action of the Central has forced the cotton to Savannah, and the money, if paid at all, is not paid in cotton but by draft on some Savannah factor.

The Central railroad is now drawing to Savannah the cotton control within a radius of sixty miles around Macon and throwing the business, the money and a great part of the trade to Savannah.

There is nothing of a personal nature in the charges. Each one is based upon facts and is backed by incontrovertible proof.

the censure of a single wrong act, and he died as he always lived in the good will and confidence of his fellow men.

When he came to Atlanta in the early fifties she was then a mere straggling village scattered over one or two of her central hills, but he saw in her the making of a great city, and through all of her trials including the visit of General Sherman, he never despaired of her promise or lost his faith in her future. He observed her growth from a village of 5,000 inhabitants to a great metropolis with a population of 100,000 souls.

He was a quiet, law-abiding citizen, and preferred the simple life of an ordinary man to the pomp of high official position. He was sixty-five years of age at the time of his death and leaves a devoted wife and three children.

The funeral will occur from the Church of the Immaculate Conception today at 2 o'clock and the interment will take place in Westview cemetery.

THE CITY RACE.

Ballots Printed?

KNOTTY QUESTION COMES

Mr. James G. Woodward Makes Reply to Some Reports Set in Cir-culation About Him.

How shall the ballots for the coming primary be prepared?

This question assumes importance be-cause of the strange situation in which the present campaign is set.

Heretofore the primaries or mass meetings had to deal with solid tickets upon given issues. The vote was not upon the men, but upon the ticket. In wards where numerous candidates were in the field, the party leaders weeded them out, and con-centrated their efforts upon a chosen nomi-

The present campaign, however, is cast upon different lines. It opened up on the single question of the mayoralty. So strong was the interest upon that point that candidates for the other places failed to materialize. They recognized the fact that the people wanted to vote upon the mayoralty uninfluenced by other considerations.

It was in response to this earnest wishthat the executive committee broke the precedent, and ordered a white primary.

After that condidates for the general coup. After that candidates for the general council began to announce themselves.

It soon became confusion worse confounded. The candidates thickened with the passing days until in the third ward alone fourteen were in the field. Each one was in the race upon his merits. There is no way to stop the increase, nor is there any method by which candidates can be pulled

A Proposition Presented

Then arose the suggestion that the candidates should fit up tickets to support their names. Messrs. Woodward and Goodwin were equally shy of this proposition. To choose one candidate in the third ward meant to array the other thirteen in opposition. Now this may be as close, as it is certain to be a hot race. Even the most unimportant candidate may have a following sufficient to turn the tide in the mayoralty vote. It is no wonder, then, that the can-diates for mayor decline to antagonize men who may be favorable to them.

But the fact still remains that tickets must be printed in some intelligible shape so as to allow the people to vote for the

A gentleman who has had much experience in politics suggests an omnibus ticket, ence in politics suggests an omnibus ticket, upon which should appear the names of all the candidates. It would begin thus:

FOR MAYOR.

Hon. John B. Goodwin,
Hon. John B. Goodwin,
Hon. John C. Hendrix,
Hon. John C. Hendrix,
Hon. John C. Hendrix,
Hon. John Stephens.

FOR ALDERMAN-SOUTH SIDE.
Hon. Arnold Broyles.

Throughout the balance of the ticket should be named, in each ward every candidate running. These tickets, by agreement, should be prepared and supplied by the city executive committee. The workers at the polls, with such tickets in hand, could present them to every voter, who, with a pencil should erase all the names but the one he wished to vote for. This plan would be equally fair to all the candidates. It would force none of them into combinations which they do not want, and would put every man abslutely upon his own merits.

Mr. Woodward Writes a Card.

The following card, written by Mr.

James G. Woodward, is in his saltiest vein:
Editor Constitution—I have heard of several reports being circulated throughout the city that might be calculated to injure me in the coming contest for mayor with people who do not know me, and I ask space in your columns to pronounce them as infamous lies, and that the party or parties who started them knew that they were lying, and that whoever may be approached hereafter with these reports, or sinflar ones, may know that the parties so doing are peddling unadulterated lies.

whoever may be approached hereafter with these reports, or similar ones, may know that the parties so doing are peddling unadulterated lies.

One of these reports is that if I am elected saloons will be scattered all over the city—that I have promised the saloon men that the limits will be extended, the hours increased at night and the license reduced. In answer to this I will say that I helped to make the prescat liquor law for the city of Atlanta, and stand squarely by that law today, and I favor giving the men engaged in that traffic all that the law allows them. If that law is ever changed from what it now is it will be done by the general council, and not the mayor. In justice to the saloon men I will say that not one of them has ever mentioned the question of changing the present law to me; while on the other hand I have heard several of them express the desire that it remain just as it is, especially as to regulation. I can see no good reason to drag the whisky question into this race, and I can believe that it is only done by designing ringsters and politicians who desire men elected who will perpetuate them in power. To the report that I have promised the liquor men anything, or that they have asked anything of me, is infamously false.

Another bare-faced and most dirty lie that is being bare-faced and most dirty lie that is being told in different parts of the city, is that I am an infield in belief. To the twelve or thirteen hundred Red Men, to the thousand or twelve hundred Odd Fellows, to the hundreds of Knights of Pythias and to the members of the Royal Arcanum this report needs no denial. No man can be a member of cither one of those noble and charitable orders and be an infidel, for they are all founded on the Bible. While I may not be a member of any church, I have the most portioned respect and veneration for churches and Christian people, and the most lonthsome contempt for hypocrites and liars.

I have also heard that reports have been circulated that I was an anarchist, probably because I h

Whereas, It is very important at this particular functure of the city's affairs to have a gentleman of well known integrity and business information to represent us in the next city council, therefore, we as a committee appointed at a meeting of representative citizens of the third ward, respectfully submit the name of John L. Mell, to the voters of Atlanta, and urge all the citizens to support him. He is a gentleman wide and favorably known and will faithfully and conscientiously represent each and every citizen of this ward and city.

That Record of Alderman Woodward.

Editor Constitution—Some attention has been given by other writers to some features in the vaunted record of Alderman Woodward. nade during his five years of service in the general council.

First. It was shown that he caused the repeal of an ordinance adopted to get light on the question of the amount of perculsites received by the clerk and marshal, and so postponed the abolition of the fee system. Attention is now called, in the same connection, to the fact that the practical way to put these officers on salaries was to move in that direction in the general council, rather than in a citizen's political meeting.

Next, the alderman's inconsistent position om the coal scale question was shown up, and as he has not replied to the showing, it was probably correct.

Great credit is claimed by him in connection with the substitution of electric lights for gas lights. No doubt, in the mere matter of superiority of lights, this was an improvement, but at what a cost. The dividends of the city from its stock in the gaslight company used to go a long ways towards paying for the street lights, which now cost $50,000 a year, or. interest on a million dollars at 5 per cent per annum, when Mayor Hemphill says a plant can be put up by the city for $100,000, which will light the streets as well as now. Did not the alderman induce the council to pay too dear for its whistle in the matter of the lights?

What do the supporters of the alderman say to his having added $15,000 per annum to the expense of two departments of the city service without securing a single new man or a single hour more of work? This would pay interest on $300,000 at 5 per cent, or it would emply fifteen additional policemen or the same number of firemen.

The alderman is also praised for his railroad crossing ordinance, but have the people considered the fact that it was always the conductors, engineers and trainmen who were arrested and fined for its infraction and never the companies?

The city charter is intended to control all the actions of the general council, confining such action within prescribed limits, and the mayor is to see to it that the charter is observed. This is the chief occasion for the mayor's veto power. Has Alderman Woodward been so faithful to the charter as construed by the city atterners? And was not the effect of the same vote to subject the power of separate action by the alderman on imancial questions to revision by a two-thirds majority of the general council in joint is made here on the propriety of the increase of these salaries—the question majority of the general council in joint session?

No point is made here on the propriety of the increase of these salaries—the question raised being, was it proper to violate the charter in order to raise them?

Will the voters of Atlanta endorse the alderman's record to the extent of making him mayor?

Heretofore his views have been comparatively under control, as they could not take force and effect without the concurrence of the council, the aldermen and the mayor.

For instance, at a recent meeting of council, Mr. Woodward moved the repeal of the whole tax ordinance of 1892, and the substitution of 1891 in its place on account of objections raised to some particular sections of the new one.

Of course his motion did not prevail.

But the mayor has veto power to veto every act of council. Such a power ought not to be lodged in the hands of a whimsical man? In such hands it would be dangerous to the public interests.

Some criticism of Alderman Woodward's views on taxation will be offered hereafter.

TAKEN TO HARMONY GROVE.

The Body of Mr. Henry Barber Will Be Interred at His Old Home.

The body of Mr. Henry Barber was taken to Harmony Grove yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Barber was a young man of splendid qualities and had a host of friends in the Gate City. He was striken with typhoid fever several weeks ago, and after lingering in painful suspense, though exhibiting a marked degree of fortitude, he passed away quietly at his home last Sunday evening.

Mr. Barber was twenty-seven years of age and leaves a wife and child to mourn his sad death.

begins with the November number a new volume which promises to excel in interest all previous issues. No region is too remote, no labor too great, no expense too much if it will only produce what THE CENTURY'S readers want. This is the policy which has made THE CENTURY, as the Pall Mall Budget (London) says, "By far the best of magazines, English or American."

The November Number begins the new Volume. . . . . In this issue are printed first chapters of

"HE IS WAITING FOR ME." From "Sweet Bells Out of Tune."

Contains

The Letters of General Sherman and Senator John Sherman, written just before the War. Edited by General Sherman's daughter.

Does The Brile Contain Scientific Errors By Professor Shields of Princeton. This is the first of an important series of papers on the Bible and Science.

James Russell Lowell and Edward Eggleston write of Parkman, the historian. Archibald Forres, the famous war correspondent, tells of "What I Saw of the Paris Commune," supplemented by "What an American Girl Saw of the Commune."

Bishop Potter writes on what should be done with the World's Fair on Sunday,—the best solution of the problem yet offered.

ATLANTA, GA., November 1, 1892. ELECTION FOR PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS

Two Flipflaps.

Atlanta's municipal election is neither a personal nor a political affair. It is purely a business transaction, as when a corporation elects a board of directors.

Those who are proposing to represent the business interests of this city should have a record which fits in with the purposes of the people. It is particularly desirable that the record of the man who is to be the mayor should be perfectly straightforward and free from shuffling.

Is the record of Alderman Woodward altogether free from shuffling? Let us see. When he was a candidate for alderman, and wanted the support of the city clerk and the city marshal, he was opposed to the keeping of a record by the city comptroller of the amount of fees received by these officers. He stated then that the amount of fees received by them was nobody's business.

But when he became an alderman and found that there was a popular sentiment against the perquisite system, he ardently advocated the abolition of the fee system in these offices.

Then there is the matter of the public scales. Alderman Woodward advocated the establishment of the public scales mainly for the purpose of securing to the people full weights in coal and coke. According to the ordinance in his own handwriting, which was passed by council, these articles were to be weighed free at the public scales if the purchaser so desired, and the dealer was not to make any extra charge for carrying the coal and coke to the public scales.

In a few short weeks Alderman Woodward changed front on this question, and reported an amendment to his ordinance (the amendment being in his own hand writing) providing that coke and coal should not be weighed free, and that the dealer might determine whether these articles should be weighed on the public scales, or the purchaser be required to see them weighed on the dealer's scales. Naturally, the council refused to pass

Does this sort of flipflapping fit Alderman Woodward to direct the business of this great city?

Titles in the South.

The Richmond Dispatch, criticising the effusive employment of titles in the south, remarks that, among other papers, The Atlanta Constitution has advocated a reform in the prevalent custom

No doubt our esteemed contemporary has good grounds for making this assertion, but we are no longer engaged in this reform. We advocated it for thirty days, and at the end of that time there were more colonels and judges in Georgia than ever before. So we compromised with the inevitable by making colonels of our entire staff, and conferring the Georgia degree of judge on our office boy. Since then matters have been running smoothly, and we are not inclined to interfere with the repose and security of

We observe, by the by, that The Dispatch refers to Thomas Nelson Page as "Dr." Page. Now this is nothing less than horrible. We assume, of course, that the title is his, since it has been conferred on him by the university, but he has no need of it, and it jars terribly on the mind. This reform, like all others, should be domesticated, as it wereshould begin at home.

A Safe Banking System.

The republican stump speakers and journalists who have so much to say against "wild cat banks," the phrase by which they designate all state banks, can be very easily answered.

The local banks of Canada are practically state banks, and yet our American bankers consider their system so admirable and important that in their annual conventions they seek all the information to be obtained regarding it.

In Canada the local banks are regulated by an act containing more than 100 uses. On an average every dollar in notes issued by these banks has nine dollars in securities back of it. The stockholders are liable to double the amount of their shares, and no dividends are allowed that will impair the capital of the banks. Monthly statements have to be made to the government, and everything is closely watched.

Occasionally, a Canadian bank fails, but there is a redemption fund contributed to by all the banks, and out of this the notes are redeemed, with 6 per cent interest. There has never been a panic, and the banks have never found it necessary to issue more than 60 per cent of the amount allowed by law.

If local banks can be so well guarded a Canada we can make them just as safe in this country by adopting the system which has been found to work so well. The facts concerning these local banks of our Canadian neighbors certainly dispose effectually of the republican paign talk about wild cat money.

The Reapportionment Question. The letter of the Hon. W. H. Fleming, in another column, on the reapportionment question, will be found, when it is carefully analyzed, to doubt the wisdom of action by the general assembly, at present, simply as a matter of policy.

It is suggested that in view of the existng discontent in the country it might be better to make a change in the senatorial districts. We think that this view has already been fully discussed and the weight of opinion seems to be against it. The idea is that nobody objects to the representation from the senatorial districts, because that is purely a geographical matter. The injustice is apparent when we strike the house, where representation is supposed to be based upon population. Now, if we are going to stick to this principle, there is no fairness in giving the small counties a much larger proportionate representation than the largest counties in the state have. It is all right for Echols, as a county, with its 3,500 population to have one representative, but when we come to the larger counties it is certainly unfair to force a county like Fulton, with 84,000 inhabitants to have only three representatives. Why not adopt a basis, say 10,000 people, and after allowing every county, however small, one representative, make that basis count for additional representatives? Mr. Fleming does not oppose a reform in our present system of reapportionment -he admits its inequality. He merely intimates that as a matter of practical business it will have to await a constitutional convention. Right here, we differ with him. Put this matter plainly to our people, and the inhabitants of the rural counties will speak up as promptly for the fair and square thing as their city neighbors.

Let us not speak of policy in this matter. It might be good policy in certain instances to exempt prominent men from the just penalty of the law, but the people would not sustain such an idea. It might be good policy to do many unfair and unjust things, but the people would not approve of it. In this case we believe that when the question is thoroughly discussed the people of the small counties will be in favor of what is just and right. We all remember the outery raised against the unfair apportionment in New York, and the delight with which a reform was hailed. Yet in New York it was a question of only a few thousand difference. Here, in Georgia, the difference is glaringly unjust, and we see a county with 3,500 having one representative while a county with 84,000 people has only three representatives!

Get this matter before the people and they will demand a reform. They will raise no question of policy; they will demand a fair and a square deal.

A Case in Point.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago it was a common thing to hear of the failure of life insurance companies in this country but who ever hears of them now? mean well known companies. Not one has failed in about a generation.

What has caused this change? doubtedly, better laws, protecting the interests of the public; a more rigid popular sentiment, and the education of the people. Going more into detail, it is more than probable that the conviction of several fraudulent insurance presidents has materially contributed to this improve-

Following this line in a logical way, it asonable to accept the conclusion that all these changes for the better in legislation and public opinion would affect our banking system. The conditions under which fraudulent insurance has become impossible would prevent wild cat bank-

It would now be impossible in any state in the union to run wild cat banks successfully. Forty years ago, in some of the frontier states it was possible for such impostures to succeed in a limited way, but now with every city and town in the country in close communication with every electric center, such humbugs would be exposed almost as soon as

Why, then, are wild cat banks any more dangerous than wild cat insurance companies?

There is no more room for the one in this country than there is for the other. Are Von in It?

This question refers to The Constitution's carnival edition, and is addressed to each and every business firm in At-

This handsome edition will appear on November 10th and the solicitors are now making their last calls. Those who have not prepared their advertisements or made application for space should do so at once so as to secure prominent positions. Those who want their announce ments to appear will confer a favor by closing arrangements with our solicitors when they call. The Constitution has always worked for the best interests of Atlanta and it is proud to say that the prominent firms of the city are co-operating with it by a most generous patronage of the carnival edition. Atlanta merchants have learned that advertising in The Constitution pays and a large or small announcement placed in the carnival edition will bear abundant fruit. It will not be an unwieldly sheet, but one of those characteristic Constitutions that always arouse the natives and bring them to Atlanta. After getting them here we will give them a good time and send them home with all their wants ### supplied. This is Atlanta's way.

An Old Acquaintance. The people of Atlanta have not forgotten the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., of New York, who was here attending the last southern Baptist convention. that time Mr. Dixon wrote cards and delivered lectures so full of random shots that quite a number of his Baptist brethren were severely wounded. When he returned to New York he opened his batteries upon Tammany, and the number of the slaughtered nobody has ever yet been able to estimate.

The latest news, however, is to the effect that Mr. Dixon is in bad luck. A short time ago he took a hunting trip on Staten island, and, in defiance of the game laws, shot thirty-one robins. For neanor the reverend gen was hauled up and fined $155 by a local

We regret to chronicle the misfortunes of an old acquaintance, but some of our friends who have felt the reckless shots of this sensational pulpiteer will doubtless feel that justice is bound to have its innings, and that whatever is must be right in the end.

Doubtless in another week or so, Mr. Dixon will be on deck again, and his Gatling guns will be dearing havor in the ranks of his critics and opponents.

The Democrats Sure to Win.

Colonel A. K. McClure, editor of The Philadelphia Times, is an impartial observer. That is to say, while he is in favor of Cleveland, he does not permit partisanship to blind his judgment or control his opinions. It is of some importance, therefore, when Colonel McClure telegraphs to his paper that the state of New York is irrevocably settled in the democratic column. He says that the drift toward Mr. Cleveland has been so strong and so positive that there is now no reasonable possibility of a revulsion against him.

Colonel McClure, who is in New York, has made a thorough study of the situation in that state, and the conclusion he comes to is that Mr. Harrison will come down to Harlem bridge with five or ten thousand less majority than he had in 1888, whereas, the democratic majority in New York city will be largely increased. Colonel McClure states positively that the republicans now practically concede the loss of New York, and he says it is an open secret that Senator Quay, after a full review of the situation from an inside standpoint, announced to the party managers that New York was hopelessly gone from them.

There is no doubt that Colonel McClure gets this information from Quay himself. The two were schoolmates, and they are still warm personal friends. Quay has undoubtedly given up New York, and this fact, according to Colonel McClure, accounts for the assault the republican party managers have made on Connecticut, Delaware and West Virginia. In these states they are today employing every known device of debauchery and coercion. Republican supervisors in Delaware and Connecticut have prostituted the federal election to such an extent as to give the people of those states a foretaste of the operations of the force bill; and Colonel McClure says it seems next to certain that the very violence of the assault made on these states will recoil on the republicans.

In Connecticut, the democrats are said to be fully prepared for the boodle campaign that the republicans have precipitated. According to Colonel McClure, the boodlers will find plenty of democrats in the market ready to deal for spot cash. The boodle will be taken, and those who take it will vote for Cleveland and be safe against detection by the new secret ballot

Dr. Warner, one of the largest manufacturers in Connecticut, an active and a life-long republican, has withdrawn from the Harrison electoral ticket. The reason given to the republican committee is, that as he is a bank director his eligibility might be called in question; but to his home neighbors he publicly stated that he cherishes the highest respect for Cleveland, and that the McKinley tariff is prejudicial to the industries of the state.

It is for these reasons that Colonel Mc Clure regards the election of the democratic ticket by a large popular and electoral majority as a certainty.

There seems to be a great democratic row going on in Texas. But everything is for Cleveland.

The fact that Colonel Cockerill was never a piney woods kuklux shows that he nothing but a kid glove politician.

We are truly sorry to learn that the able editor of The New York Morning Advertiser was born in Ohio. We should think that this is a matter to be spoken of only in the solitude of one's closet. The esteemed Colonel Cockerill has an editorial headed "As to Hay." It is another evidence that the republican party has gone to grass. Democratic unity in New York is now perfect, with Tammany on hand to see that all the voters are brought out. Some of the republican hustlers are coming to grief in New York city. Superin-endent Byrnes has a keen democratic eye in his head. It is said Mr. Cleveland's vote will be challenged by the republicans. Very well. If Mr. Cleveland loses his one vote, he will

EDITURIAL COMMENT.

A London special says: "Mrs. Langiry is again the subject of gossip, having come into public notice this time on account of the attentions paid her of late by Lord Rosslyn, the twenty-three year old scion of the noble tentions paid her of late by Lord Rosslyn, the twenty-three year old scion of the noble Scotch house of Erokine, who has gained some notoriety by his sporting proclivities. The young lord is said to be the latest conquest of the famous beauty, and he is credited with having lavished numerous gifts upon the thrifty actress. At a recent sale of some of Lord Rosslyn's horses, a splendid yearling was knocked down to an unknown 'Mr. Jersey' for 1,700 guineas. Some persons who had curlosity to know who Mr. Jersey was made inquiries which developed the fact that the name was fictitious, the new owner of the horse proving to be the 'Jersey Lily.' The real state of the case is said to be that the korse was a gift to Mrs. Langtry, the pretended sale being for form's sake."

General Jubal A. Early, at the recent veteran meeting at Richmond in response to calls arose and made a few remarks, in which he refuted the charge that General Robert E. Lee, during the war, had ordered the destruction or confiscation of union people's personal property. He said that he believed that he (Early) was the only confederate general entitled to the credit of having done such an act. He then related the incident in detail. He said that the man that had made the charge against General Lee was a member of the Society of the army of Northern Virginia. He was asked to give the name of the man and he promptly replied "General Field," which announcement was received with hissing.

Upon visiting the camps at Fredericksburg and elsewhere, and asking the soldiers what they most wished to complete their happiness, he received this reply "tobacco." "Why, tobacco?" he asked. "Because if we sit down on a march and can have a little smoke it makes us think of home, and lulls our minds and cures the homesickness." The measure encountered much opposition in congress, and failed at first. But just after the war closed provision was made forest tobacco ion in the army supplies and the soldiers

A writer in The Richmond Dispatch, noting the scarcity of genuinely honest men in some sections of the country, says:

"In a recent issue of your paper I noticed the death of Mr. L. Lottier, and it gives me pleasure to bear witness to the fact that he was 'an honest man.' In 1857 reverses overtook him, and he was unable then to pay for some tobacco bought (probably) for cash. The sellers of it never sued him; indeed, they took no paper from him to show that he owed the debt. In the great fire of 1865 which took place in Richmond the books of the firm that sold Mr. Lottier the tobacco, hough in a fine, costly safe, were utterly lestroyed. Thus the debt was not only out of the firm that sold Mr. Lottier the tobacco. though in a fine, costly safe, were utterly destroyed. Thus the debt was not only out of date, but all evidence of the particulars of it was lost. Notwithstanding this Mr. Lottier, after his success in business, settled the debt entirely to the satisfaction of the parties to whom it was due. Two other of your Richmond citizens acted in the same manner about old debts. Such action showed the honest stuff they were made of."

Miss Emma Carslake, of Trenton, N. J., reof promise. The jury awarded her $7,500, and the main reason was because the doctor had lived in her family a dozen years, paying his board. This is the way the juries in the country make up their ver-dicts. They may do the right thing, but the ing them very often have no legal bearing on the case.

A Valuable Reform.

From The Macon Telegraph. There is not the least probability that any plan which does not give a representative to the smallest county or which gives to the larger counties every member to which strict justice entitles them, if all citizens are to have equal representation, can be adopted County lines cannot be ignored, nor can the house be made so large as strict justice would demand. The state does not want to pay 500 or 600 legislators, nor would a body so large and unwieldly be useful.

But the impossibility of putting the people f the different counties on an exact equality with each other is not a good reason for refusing to reduce the existing inequality to the mallest proportions possible. Constitution has undertaken to bring about a valuable reform and hope that it will be uccessful. Its plan seems to be the only practicable one-to add to the membership of the house reasonably, the new members to be apportioned to the counties now having the smallest repres their population. An amendment to the constitution would necessary to bring about the reform, which, of course, involves considerable delay. But that only makes it desirable that the preliminary steps should be taken promptly. It is well enough to remember that should another political party gain considerable strength in the state, the desired reform will no longer be possible. The party which derives advantage from the inequality of representation will be able to prevent change. Now the question need not be a political one, and it is not to be presumed that any democrat desires for himself any advantage in representation over

GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

The Albany News and Advertiser says that Captain Tripplet and Mr. Russell are both very confident of a democratic congressional national victory. Mr. Russell was on his way nome from a two weeks' campaign Saturda last and was highly elated over the prospects.
Captain Triplett, who is always in close touch with the people of his county, says Thomas will do its duty on the 8th and he ought to know. Hon. W. M. Hammond, who ought to know. Hon. W. M. Hammond, who occupies a very warm place in the hearts of the people of Albany has just returned from a trip to Savannah yesterday. He says from all the information he can gather, the district is safe for a good healthy majority. In answer to a question about the national out-look he said: "I have never been very san-guine until yesterday. I am very hopeful now, for I have several signs that make me very onfident of a democratic victory."

The following card, which "speaks for it-self," appeared in The Augusta Chronicle of self," appeared in The Augusta Chronicle of yesterday:

"The information which I furnished The Chronicle concerning Watson's incendiary language at Stellaville, was given me by a reliable colored man named W. C. Smith, who was present at the meeting. The negro understood Mr. J. J. Patterson to say that he would be responsible for it. In this the negre was mistaken, as Mr. Patterson was not present. The negro himself, who is thoroughly reliable, assumes the responsibility himself and repeats the charge of Watson's extrawagence. I am very sorry if I have been misinformed, as I would not do Mr. Watson an injustice. J. S. SMITH."

Says The Athens Banner: "The general seembly of Georgia convenes tomorrow at assembly of Georgia convenes tomorrow at the state capitol in Atlanta, and the work of the state capitol in Atlanta, and the work of organization will be lively. In our section of the state three offices are to be filled, viz: Solicitor general of the Western circuit, judge of the Northern circuit and solicitor general of the Northern circuit. For these offices Hon. R. B. Russell, Judge Hamilton Mc-Whorter and Hon. W. M. Howard, the present incumbents, ask re-election, and in one udgment there could be no better selection

The Georgia editors are looking pretty far ahead these days—at_least, in the political field. The Madisonian has the fellowing:

"The Madisonian has a candidate for Judge Thomas G. Lawson's seat in the national congress at the expiration of his term in 1894, and that candidate is the man whose name heads this article—Hon. Calvin George. To the 1900 people of the eighth district we present his name today, two years in advance of all others, and ask them to consider the advisability of his election. The recent overwhelming democratic victory in Morgan county is attributed to the efforts of no other man in a greater degree than those of Calvin George. He toiled unselfishly and labored sealously day and night for the success of Hon. R. U. Thomason and of democracy. He has represented Morgan in the legislature

The Columbus Enquirer-Sun says that when Colonel Ham looks over the house of representatives, of which esteemed body he is an unmixed ornament, he will be constantly gratified to observe that only a very limited number of snollygosters meet his eagle eye.

The Cherokee Advance says that a prominent citizen of that county, who has recently traveled through the mountain counties of the ninth district, says that in the counties above the Chattahoochee river Carter Tate will certainly get a good majority over Mr. Pickett. He makes an estimate as fo which seems to be very conservative and liberal towards Mr. Pickett, to-wit: "The majority for Tate in Milton will be 300, in Dawson 200, in Lumpkin 150, in Fannin 100, in Towns 100, in Union 150, in Rabun 300, in Gilmer 250, and in Cherokee 300. Both sides claim Pickens, but recent developments favor Tate by at least 200 majority, and the vote in Forsyth will also be very close though that county is conceeded to Pickett. It is estimated that the counties below the Chat-tahoochee will give Tate not less than 2,000 majority, making Tate's majority in the district

In the absence of Solicitor Boykin Wright, who is looking after his re-election before the legislature, the campaign in the tenth is being managed by Mr. C. H. Cohen, and The being managed by Mr. C. These will be increased later on, and every stump in the tenth will be covered from now until the 8th of Kovember. Mr. Cohen knows his work well, and is keeping the campaign well in hand.

Says The Columbus Herald: "Ex-Senator W. O. Johnson, of this city, is a warm friend of Hon. Fleming duBlgnon and thinks he has a fair chance of succeeding Senator Alfred Colquitt in the United States senate. Mr. Johnson served with Mr. duBignon in the state senate, and says he is a rattling good fellow and an able man. duBignon has been stumping some of the northern and eastern states for Cleveland, and made a good impression. Mr. Johnson says if a Muscogee county man cannot be elected to succeed Senator Colquitt, he would like to see Mr. duBignon get the plum."

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

There are numerous blind people in Atlanta who manage, by persistent begging, to ek-out a scanty living; and all of them are dif ferent in ways, unlike in appearance, and most of them are entirely lacking in manners. Some of these unfortunate people secure the sympathy of the passerby and there the ald comes from, for sympathy unlooses the purse strings of the most heartless.

Others by a persistent, methodical, whang worrying secure their aid after sadly disturbing the mind of the impatient donor. And of these sight-crippled creatures At-lanta has a varied and entirely unlike assort

The general assembly could pass no better bill than one appropriating a sufficient amount of money to the state normal school established here last summer to enable that institution to conduct its affairs successfully.

effective as it should be, and there is no way to accomplish this save by the maintenance by the state of a normal school.

The work done by the normal school at Rock college last summer, hampered as it was by lack of funds, was very fine, and the work it could do with an appropriation from the state to aid it would be much better and more effective.

Then again the Peabody fund stands ready to assist this school with an amount equal to that appropriated by the state.

The legislature could do a great service to the state by providing for the maintenance of this institution.

There are not so many people in Georgia dissatisfied with the democratic party as some folks would have us believe. And the number will be less from now on.

THE STRANGER WITHIN OUR GATES

"Cleveland is certain to be elected next week," said Mr. William T. Standers, of New York city yesterday. "I have the utmost faith that New York will give him 75,000 maority. He is such a level-headed, practical man that the business men of the country are naturally attracted to him. One of the strongest evidence of the shift in New York s the fact that President Williams, is the fact that President Williams, of the Chemical bank, is going to vote for Cleveland. And let me tell you what is more, Senator Hill comes out of this campaign a great deal stronger than he went into it."

"I called on Colonel Closson," said General Longstreet, "yesterday morning. The last time I saw him was at Eagle Pass, in 1854, when, as a young lieutenant, he joined his regiment. We have both changed since that day, but we talked over the thirty-eight years which have passed with the same enthusiasm as if it were as many days instead."

"Yes," said General Longstreet, on further consideration, "defeat recommended a general to the favor of President Davis. During the war, just after Albert Sidney Johnson had been forced back through Kentucky and Tennessee into Alabama, suffering a series of disasters. President Davis wrote to him approv ing his retreat, and saying: 'I think you have done remarkably well.' The loss of two states was thus a subject for congratula-

'Oh,' said he, 'I did remarkably well.' A little later the companion, pleased at his friend's success, again ventured to ask about the patient. 'How is the child?' 'It is dead,' was the gloomy response. 'Well, how is the rest of the family?' 'The mother is dead, too.' 'My heavens,' exclaimed the companion, 'what do you mean by saying you did remarkably well?' 'The father is still alive.' That, I declared was groupmons, with the praise declared, was synonimous with the praise bestowed on Johnston. He had lost two states and he did remarkably well because he had not lost any more. In the midst of my narative the entire party had ceased talking, thus adding Mr. Davis to my auditors. Fred B. Johnston, M. M. Mauck's default ing bookkeeper, has fixed up his shortage with his old employer, or rather it was settled by his friends.

The story of Johnston's misstep was printed announced that Mr. Mauck had sent out creaters to the chiefs of police all over the country asking that young Johnston be arrested. Today he will mail to all of the officials to whom his first circular was sent, postals stating that the matter had been amicably arranged.

Mr. Mauck yesterday gave out the following for publication concerning the matter:

We take pleasure in stating to the readers of The Constitution that the shortage of Fred B. Johnston to M. M. Mr. Mauck says they will continue to be as good friends as before, He is very sorry this trouble occurred, as Mr. Johnston was very clever and big-hearted and came from one of the best families in East Tennessee.

Johnston, as will be remembered, was a young Tennesseean, skilled in bookkeeping, telegraphy and bycicle riding.

"The chief purpose of the bill," said Major Bacon, explaining to a group of legislators in the clerk's room, "is to prevent railroads from being controlled by syndicates and combinations and to insure the holding of railroad stock as far as practicable by individuals in their own right.

"The bill is long because it is necessary to make a good many provisions to prevent erasion by parties whom it primarily seeks to control. The principal design is to prevent shares of stock being collected by speculators and transferred to some person to be held in trust for them. By this means parties get control of a majority of stock in a railroad company, put it in a trust company where each individual no longer has power to withdraw his stock from the combination.

"The bill does not in any manner interfere with any legitimate ownership of any railroad property. The object of the bill is to make one step in the direction of restoring railroad property in Georgia to a position where it will be a reasonably safe myestment for those who seek it as a legitimate investment. As it now stands no man dares to invest money in stocks unless he belongs to a combination which is to control a majority of it.

"This bill will not interfere with any one engaged in any legitimate railroad enterprise. It only gets after speculators and wreckers. In order to circumvent them it is necessary to make some provision which ordinarily would not be necessary. The full provisions of the bill can only be known by reading it in full."

He proposes to have a law establishing a fund of $25,000, or as much thereof as may be necessary to carry out the purpose of the bill. The measure provides that out of this fund the governor make take money to employ professional detectives to bring to punishment such men as may engage in these lawless mob antics. "Take for instance," said Mr. Neel, "that men masked themselves and dragged a negro from his house at night and beat him till he died. They then vanished in thin air and the citizens would be naturally in danger should they seek to find them out and punish them. See? What we want is to employ men to handle such mobs as that."

Charges Against a Judge.

It is an old story but it took a different turn yesterday—the charges by Messrs. Glenn & Maddox, of Atlanta, against Judge Gober.

Mr. Neel, of Floyd, introduced a resolution yesterday which brought up the charges for consideration by the general assembly. It is known how Judge Gober, of the Blue Ridge circuit, was charged by these lawyers with having inserted in a paper filed by them with his court four pages of "typewritten something" they had never seen, and that he when called upon to produce the original papers taken from the document was unable to do so, but made as accurate a copy as possible. Such was the charge against the judge.

The resolution, or memorial presented to the legislature closed by suggesting an investigation.

investigation.

In submitting the document, Mr. Neel simply stated that he did so because it was customary for such memorials to be submitted to the general assembly. He said it might be referred to a committee and await the pleasure of the house, and it

A Lively Tilt.

A pretty lively little tilt resulted in the consideration of the resolution introduced by Hodge, of Pulaski, in the house last week to adjourn the general assembly to allow the members to go home to vote election day.

Calvin, of Richmond, amended it by making the adjournment till Thursday after election instead of Wednesday.

Several speeches were made on the resolution for and against, the two gentlemen from Meriwether, leading off for the opposition.

from Meriwether, leading off for the opposition.

Hill of Meriwether said he was opposed to adjourning because the session had only fifty days allotted by law and must necessarily be rushed through in haste, without delaying. He said if members were needed in any county and the county was in any close place of being lost to democracy, he favored his having a leave of absence. He believed any other member placing it on similar grounds would receive a leave of absence, but he was opposed to wholesale adjournment. Let us keep a quorum here and go on with the state's business, said he.

Mr. Hodge, of Pulaski, author of the reserved.

opposed to wholesale adjournment. Let us keep a quorum here and go on with the state's business, said he.

Mr. Hodge, of Pulaski, author of the resolution made a strong defense of his measure, declaring that voting in a national election was the duty of every southern democrat in these piping times of peace, and voting at any and all times was the greatest privilege of free American citizenship. It was a greater privilege and a sterner duty than making laws. A motion to postpone the consideration of the resolution indefinitely was lost. There it came up for action and was defeated by a vote of 88 to 76, the ayes and nays being called for by Wheeler, of Walker.

Ham. of Hall, who fought earnestly for the adjournment declared he would call for a reconsideration bright and early this morning. It is understood that a new resolution will be submitted today fixing the time of resuming the session Wednesday after the election at 3 o'clock instead of Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

It is believed that such a motion will prevail.

The Prohibition Question.

The Prohibition Question.

There is going to be some fun when Ham's prohibition bill comes up for action in the house.

It was put on first reading yesterday. The bill provides for an amendment in the local option laws so that cities can take a vote on the prohibition question without consulting the counties as is now necessary.

House Routlage.

The house opened session at 9:30.

Fulcher, of Burke made his appearance for the first time and was sworn in as a full fledged member.

A resolution was offered to have an extra porter to attend the varied committes. Colonel J. D. Howard, the clever and able member of the house from Milledgeville, says the old Capital city is taking on new airs and is growing to be one of the most lively and advantageous business centers in Georgia. He says Milledgeville is going to get there yet if she keeps up the gait she now has.

Warner Hill says it won't be so bad to adjourn and go home for a single day to vote, but to spend three days away from the bouse would be as cheerful to him as a funeral procession. "Besides," said he, "we will all want to be in Atlanta the night after the election to hear the news direct of Cleveland's election, and we know that The Constitution office is the place to get it.

It was funny to see the candidates crowding the halls yesterday with anxious faces thinking the election of judges and solictors would take place—funny to see them sigh in relief when it was postponed until today. But, today, boys, the agony will be

Judge Gober's friends are taking that memorial business "mighty easy," as one of the members expressed it yesterday.

Messenger Smith will have all of his pages in fine training after awhile. They are handsome, sprightly little fellows—every one of them.

Handsome Joe Gross is getting along swimmingly in the race for solicitor of the Tallapoosa circuit. He is a gentlemanly Chesterfield kind of a fellow and would win friends if tossed into Madagascar, Hindostan or any other strange seaport town."

The boys call Osborne, of Chatham, the dude of the house.

Hodges, of Bibb. wears a big southern slouch hat and Osborne, of Chatham, wears dainty little quizzing glasses. Speaker Attorson and Mr. Fleming wear light Prince Albert coats and styles of liberty. One of the colored members wears a silk cap. Ed. Hill and Colonel Billy Morton wear light dudish suits and always go handsomely

Ex-Representative Robert Berner, who has made the acquaintance of all the new members he did not know, was saying yesterday at the capitol that the room in which Ben Hill was born at Hillsborough is propped up by a rail He says he met an old Georgian away down in Florida recently whose first question on learning where Mr. Berner was from, was to learn if that house is still standing.

The boys in the house will miss Ham while he is away.

Governor Northen will send into the senate today a dozen or more appointments of county Judges and solicitors.

The unanimous comment on the general assembly is that it is as fine looking body of men as ever represented any state.

"It would be worth 20,000 votes for every member of the general assembly to go home and vote," said Hon. Joe James yesterday. "The presence of the members, who are strong representative men, would enthuse the democrats. Of course we will have a handsome majority for Cleveland, but we ought to pile up a tremendous one and complete the democrats so focuse we will have a handsome majority for Cleveland, but we ought to pile up a tremendous one and complete the democratis so happy over the 71,000 majority that they are inclined to relax the organization in places. It was organization and the hardest kind of work which gave us that magnificient majority. The members can do a wonderful sight of good by going home for election and working Monday and Tuesday. Nearly all could get back by Wednesday morning."

"It is noticeable that the alliance men do not figure in this assembly as they did in the last." says ex-Representative Gazaway Hartridge, of Chatham. "The alliancemen who went into the third party were as a rule defeated, while those who stuck to democracy were winners."

Hon. Warner Hill holds the position that the general assembly cannot afford to adjourn for three days as they will be taken out of the fifty days. "I say let the members from the three districts in which the hardest fights is being made go home. The rest of the members can go on introducing bills and keeping the machinery in motion.

George F. Gober, the present incumbent, for reelection to the judgeship of our circuit, Judge Gober has had the office for three years, being elected to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Will J. Winn, deceased, and it is the universal desire of the bar and the people that he be re-elected. He has discharged the duties of his office fearlessly, faithfully, impartially and with a marked degree of ability, and he enjoys, in the fullest measure, the esteem and confidence not only of our people but of all men who know him. We give to his personal and official record our hearty and unqualified endorsement and we unanimously ask his re-election. It Was a Brilliant Event and Was Greatly Enjoyed by Every One Present.

Enjoyed by Every One Present.

The reception last night which was given by the Myrtle lodge of Odd Fellows was a brilliant event and more than surpassed the expectations of the members.

Every lodge in the city was present through its representatives and they gathered for the purpose of congratulating the members of Myrtle lodge upon their new and elegant quarters and to sup with them in a brotherly way around the festive board.

Judge J. G. Bloodworth, grand master of Odd Fellows in the state, presided over the meeting and opened the exercises with a few pertinent remarks.

Speeches were made by Messrs. E. M. Mitchell, J. B. Goodwin, Anton Kontz, Judge J. A. Anderson, C. Z. Blalock, Alex Dittler, W. C. Shearer and others. The speeches were all eloquent and were characterized by a fervent display of feeling and good fellowship.

After the speeches were delivered they adjourned to the banquet hall on the lower floor were an elegant repast was spread.

The occasion was pronounced by every one a splendid success and will long be remembered as one of the most delightful events in the history of oddfellowship in Atlanta.

In a moment or two he started to go on, but reeled and dropped to the sidewalk. Some men has-tened to him, two policemen assisted and he was carried back into Mrs. Pinson's. At first it was thought that he had fainted. But by the time the body was within the house it was plain that he was dead. Dr. Hunter P. Cooper was summoned. POPULAR CORINNE.

The Little Dancer and Commedienne in a Scotch Character.

Fascinating Corinne, who used to be "Little Corinne," appeared at Decive's last night as the star of a large opera comique company. "Arcadia" is a collection of many special features. Corinne sings and dances in it, a quartet of clever comedians provoke merriment, a stage full of young women in brilliant costumes march, sing and dance, and that is "Arcadia." It is a production very pretty to see and at the end one would be willing to sit still while it was repeated right then and there.

As Corinne approaches womanhood she grows more a fayorite. She was cordially received and she deserved it. Her songs were encored and her dances, particularly her sword dance delighted the audience. The Scotch sword dance is given with more lightness and grace than any other. Corinne wore a Scotch costume which was very becoming—half revealing, half concenting an attractive figure.

In the cast Mr. Tom Grady was recognized by the audience as a comedian who was here last summer with one of the opera companies. He has topical songs on which he was recalled. Mr. Tony Williams and Miss Harrington were good in their parts.

An English gavotte and an amazon march were splendidy given.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, October 31.—The week opened the stock exchange with a continuance of the bullish feeling that prevailed Saturday, after an unexpectedly favorable bank state-ment was made public. The reports of higher quotations for Ameri-cans from Lonon helped to im part confi-ment was made public.

The reports of higher quotations for Americans from Lonon helped to im part confidence in the market which showed an advancing tendency from the start. In addition to the bouancy if Industrials and low-priced stocks, which have been prominent in dealings of late, there was an increased activity in dividend-paying railway shares, like St. Paul, preferred, North Western, Lake Shore and Michigan Central, which rose anywhere from 3-6 to 2-3-6 per cent. After the leading upward movement, heavy tonnage on trunk lines both east and west of Chicago stimulated purchases. Grangers improved a point or more. Among Coal shares, Lackawanna and Delaware and Hudson road, 13 8 to 3-6, while Reading and Jersey Central declined 1-2 to 1. Among Industrials, Distilling and Cattle Feeding and Chicago Gas were centers of attraction. The former rose 2-78 to 67, and buying was based on reports that that company has gained control of its only competitors at the west, although officials still deny all knowledge of the matter. Chicago Gas advanced nearly 2 per cent and closed at highest figures.

Commission houses executed a number of investment orders, stock being taken on assurances by insiders that it will soon be on a 6 per cent basis. American Sugar was up about a point, while American Tobacco declined 1 per cent. New York and Northern Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, October 31—The movement at Galyeston and New Orleans today is very heavy, aggregating $5,000 bales. This is the first day the receipts have exceeded those of last year this season, and so far as the large movement at New Orleans affects the total is caused by the corrections made by the railroads on the last day of the month. Our cables tell us the Liverpool market felt the effect of the carry estimates of the receipts this morning, closing easy at the lowest sprices of the day after opening steady at 1-64d advance. It is also evident the anticipation of the strike against the reduction in wages next week was not without effect upon the market. In fact more cables of a department of the strike against the reduction in wages next week was not without effect upon the market. In fact more cables of a department of the strike against the reduction of the strike against the reduction will estimate the world's requirement of American cetton at 8,200,000 bales. Our market, however, is feeling the effect of the increase in the movement today, and large lines of long cotton have been iquidated. This pressure has has so far prevented any recovery of moment, the estimate of 9,500 bales tomorrow at New Orleans, against 35,000 bales instead tomorrow at New Orleans, against 35,000 bales in the market company, from which point there was a slight recovery at the close, and the tone was called steady. On the belief that European consumers will advance the argument that they are again deceived as to the size of cotton from the south, and a few offers have been received here late this afternoon at prices which justify the opinion that they will be offered at lower quotations to Europe.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter. By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, October 31—Liverpool this morning was 3/2 of 1-84d lower, closing easy at about bottom figures influenced as the early cables stated, by the fact that it was expected Neill would come out with an estimate of 8,000,000 bales or over for this present crop. Our friends, however, have contradicted this fact, and we doubt whether such will really be the case. However, the mere idea has had its weight, and this, in combination with the extraordinarily heavy receipts of today, which are really the largest ever recorded, has served to depress values here some 12@14 points below Saturday's close. During the forepart of the day business was light and values steady. This afternoon, however, the effect of the large movement was felt in the heavy realize, for doubtless the combination of circumstances which transpired today has weakened the faith of many who have heretofore believed in a moderate crop. It is uscless to argue in opposition to evident facts, and unless these receipts assume a different character before long, we are afraid people will again begin to refer to the developments of last year. We ourselves cannot but be governed by what we are hearing, and in a measure attribute the large figures for Galveston and New Orleans to a recount of the daily roceipts for the past month when previous discrepancies are reconciled on the last day, which has to some crient swelled the figures at these respective ports. The colder weather which was predicted for Saturday was by no means general, and in only in a few instances did the temperature fall, and in none that we learn of can it be said that frost took place. THE CHICAGO MARKET

Features of the Speculative Meyement in Grain and Previsions.

CHICAGO, October 31—Today marked the culmination of the big deal in ribs on the board of trade, and whed the gong sounded the hour for closing ribs were still king and Wright was their profit. The pit was jammed during the last quarter of an hour, the general expectation being that the shorts would come in and astempt to fix the price by "wash" sales. The general expectation was wrong, however, as the shorts did nothing of the sort, and the great deal culminated without a ripple of excitement. The price at the wind-up was $12.00 even and the indications were that the aborts had practically all settled, notting Messra. Oudary and Wright about $1,00,00. The deal was the outgrowth of an attempt by packers to break Wright, who was long at the time of the cholers soare.

Wheat closed he higher, notwithstanding the hig receipts and a very close approach to the heaviest visible supply on record.

Corn gained from *(8% over Saturday's closing rates.

Outside of October ribs provisions were weak and rates.

aded. Prices are certainly very low to the farmers and it is quite probable that if they are compelled to hold their wheat owing to the absence of facilities for handling, it would do them no harm, to say the least.

Oats continue strong and in good demand; not much change, however, in the price, especially for the lower grades.

No. 4 and other off grades of corn were firm and quiet, and a large business was done. The speculative feeling is growing stronger, particularly owing to large lines reported as being held by strong parties, and also reports from the country that harvesting is disappointing. pointing.

Hog products for January delivery were depressed and lower. Trading was very light, and the market seems to be all out of sorts, owing to the peculiar condition of October contracts.

with the theft of the child indicates little girl for ransom.

In corroboration of this theory, which suggested at the very first, Maude Deham, the fifteen year old negro made confession yesterday afternoon stating at the kidnaping of little Marie was inthat the kidnaping of note marke was in-cigated by two white men who promised her a large sum of money if she would keep the child for a few days for them. Previous to this, when first arrested on Sunday night she told a story in which Ann Smith, another negro girl was impli-

In accordance with her first story, Ann Smith was arrested. She vehemently de-sied her guilt, but the Denham girl faced a with such spirit and sharged that he was responsible for the entire affair, at the detectives believed for a while are was something in it. It appears howthat certain jealousies peculiar to females had caused the Denham grid to bring the Smith girl into the trouble.

Testerday she weakened on her first story and said that the Smith girl had sothing to do with it. The latter was pleased when this statement was made.

Later in the day Maude Denham told Later in the day Mande Denham told a new story. She said that on Saturday norang two white men, whose names she give, came to her and told her that if the would entice little Marie Manning away from home, and keep her hid for four or five days they would give her a big mm of money for it. One of them gave am or money for it. One of them gave her some money at the time.

About 11 o'clock Saturday morning, he says she went by Mr. Manning's home. Little Marie and little Clio Smith were laying in front of the house. She asked farie if she wanted some candy, and the life one quickly said that she did.

"If you'll go with me," the Denham girl old her, "we'll go get some candy." Marie mickly agreed and left her little playmate. The negro girl took her by the hand and arried down Butler street. She carried er down to Wheat and thence up to farietta street. They went out on the sarietta street car about noon, and were sen by Patrolman Lockhardt.

The Denham girl lives with her father who is a laborer. Her mother is an invalid, and the girl, though young is the housekeeper.

The Denham girl lives with her father,
Marie is on Hampton street. It is so far out that it is not numbered. Hampton and the cottage where little Marie was kept in hiding, lies half a mile over the hill from the end of the Marietta street electric car line. The house sets endwise to the street. It is a frame structure consisting of two rooms, the larger room being the one next to the street. To the rear is a small room, used as a dining room. Between the two is a chimney.

It was to this quiet, out of the way not that little Marie was carried. She was hidden in the little rear room.

The strange place, and the strange faces rightened the little girl. She cried and beged for mamma.

To stop her from crying, the negro girl whipped her severely. Every lick left a purple mark upon the tender flesh of little Marie couldn't be quieted.

The negro girl intended to carry out her part of the contract with the two white men, and would have done so she says but for the appearence upon the scene of Howard Rollins, the negro boy employed at Mr. Lynch's, who carried little Marie

The girl very readily gave the names of the two white men whom she says induced her to kidnap the little child. The men are both very well known in the city, and the detectives were greatly surprised then they heard the names mentioned.

Detectives Crim and Bedford set out at once to arrest the two men. Neither could be found. They were not at their homes. Up to 10 o'clock last night when the de-Up to 10 o'clock last night when the de-tectives temporarily gave up the search, nowher of the two men had been located. Yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. W. Manning, parents of little Marie, ought the little one to Chief Connolly's fice. The nearco girl Manda Daniel brought the little one to Chief Connolly's office. The negro girl, Maude Denham, was also brought in. At sight of her, Marie began crying and clinging close to her father.

"Don't let her get me," she begged, "don't let her get me; she whips me."

She knew the negro girl at once. The later was put through another course of questioning, but no additional facts were gathered. She still held to her story. She is a very insolent girl, and talks very curtly to the officers. She was again locked up when it was found that nothing new could be gained from talking with her.

Little Marie was hugged and kissed almost to death yesterday. She was un-

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. So many helped in the work that the family finds it impossible to thank each one individually.

limits.

Standing in the doorway of his home with his babe in his arms and his wife by his side Mr. Varnadoe says he was shot at by Isham Sanders, his next door neighbor, and his statement is corroborated by the evidence of eye witnesses. The bullet passed within two inches of Mrs. Varnadoe's head and was imbedded in the door facing in a too dangerous proximity to her.

Yesterday Mr. Varnadoe swore out a warrant against Sanders charging him with assault with intent to murder.

The cause of the shooting was an old feud that has existed between the two families for over a year. Mr. Varnadoe and Mr. Sanders have not been on speaking terms since. The affair grew out of Mr. Varnadoe making complaint about Mr. Sanders's boys playing ball in a lot adjoining his home. Mr. Sanders got very mad at the time and the feeling between the two has been very bitter since. Saturday night the two had some words which came very near resulting in a fight, but the two men were quieted before anything serious transpired.

Sunday morning the quarrel was renewed. Sanders cursed Mr. Varnadoe, and the transpired. Sunday morning the quarrel was renewed. Sanders cursed Mr. Varnadoe, and the latter invited Sanders to go into the street with him where they would settle it with a fist and skull fight. Sanders ran inside his house and got his pistol. Varnadoe remained standing in the door with his babe in his arms. His wife stood beside him in the doorway begging him not to have a difficulty.

the doorway begging him not to have a difficulty.

Sanders quickly returned with his pistel in his hand and without a word fired at Varnadoe. The bullet whistled past Mrs. Varnadoe's head and buried itself in the door facing.

Sanders tried to fire the second time, but Patrolman Bethea, who resides just across the street from where the difficulty occurred, ran over and grabbed him, thus preventing what would almost surely have been a fatal tragedy. Officer Bethea took Sanders in charge and a case of disorderly conduct was booked against him at the police station.

Mr. Small writes as follows:

"Hoh. L. F. Livingston, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: Understanding that today, at Jonesboro, you stated that your reason for not meeting me before the people of this district for a joint discussion of the issues of the campaign is that I am "personal" and "attack your private character" (which latter assertion is wholly untrue). Colonel Livingston's answer, which is brief and to the point, is given below:

"Atlanta, Ga., October 31.—Hon. Sam W. Smail, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir. I regret that it will be impossible for me to accept your invitation to speak in joint debate with you in the fifth district between now and the day of the election. At the urgent request from the state democratic committee I have placed my time at their disposal, and it has assigned me to work in the tenth district.

"Were it not for the fact that the state democratic cammittee desired my presence elsewhere, I should not hesitate to accept your offer for a joint debate. However, I think I can be of better service to my party in the tenth district than in the fifth, at the present time, but whatever may be my own opinion about the matter, I have no alternative when the state campaign committee assigns me for duty in the tenth.

"As I can be in my district but a few days between now and the day of the election, I am content to leave my interests and those of the democratic party in the hands of the democrats of the district. Very respectfully, "L. F. LIVINGSTON."

SAM SMALL IN JONESBORO.

He Makes a Lively Speech and Has a Small Riot.

Jonesboro, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Sam Small, the prohibitionist and third party seeker for congressional honors, addressed a crowd of 350 people here tonight. His speech was a lively one and came near precipitating a er for congressional honors, addressed a crowd of 350 people here tonight. His speech was a lively one and came near precipitating a small riot. He addressed himself in the main to Colonel Livingston's career as a congressman. He was so prolife in his misstatements that when called on by a prominent and ever-vigilant democrat to prove his assertion that Colonel Livingston advocated the giving to the negro only the money raised by taxation on their own property for school purposes, a controversy arose between Sam and the gentleman, when Sam was given the lie by the aforesaid gentleman, a democrat. Thereupon some of the third party aposties swelled up and made a break for the democrat and bruised him up considerably. For a time a first-class riot was imminent, but the grit of the few democrats present and the cooler heads of the other side prevented blood-shed and quiet was restored.

Another democrat advised Sam to confine himself in the bounds of truth as his remarks would break the meeting up in a riot.

Warrants will be sworn out tomorrow for a half dozen or more, charging them with riot which will give Solicitor John S. Candler a job.

The County Executive Committee Is Calle by Chairman Brandon. The Fulton county executive committee will meet in the city courtroom this morning at 10 o'clock.

The object of the meeting is to discuss the presidential election and to consider plans of securing a full democratic vote.

Several other matters of importance will come before the committee and a full attendance is requested.

An Unique and Delightful Entertainment

THE OLD-TIME CELEBRATIONS RECALLED

One of Them—News and Gossip About People You Know—Pointed and Personal.

Never in the annals of Atlanta society has a more unique and brilliant entertainment been given than the All Halloween party enjoyed at the home of Mayor and Mrs. Hemphill last evening. The idea of All Halloween in all its weird and quaint significance was perfectly carried out in the decorations, costumes and so forth. As the guests entered the houstable mansion they were greeted by all sorts of smiling lanterns made of pumpkins, eleverly carved with faces; and in the drawing room stood an old-time dame whose face and head was carved from a pumpkin and who wore a tall mob cap and a white kerchief. In this room and throughout the house the decorations were all autumnal bage were crowned with strings of scarlet pepers and bright apples and autumn follage Upon the mantels heads of ivory-white cabvied with each other a cheeriness. Above the mantel in the wide central hallway were arranged graceful boughs of bright maple leaves and the mantel was banked with golden popeorn and strung with garlands of ruby apples. When the company whish numbered about fifty of the host's and hostesses' old married friends assembled the house was illuminated dimly and the inspiring music of the banjo was faintly heard amid the buzz of conversation.

When supper was announced the whole mansion burgt into brilliancy and when the company assembled the beautiful poem on All Halloween, by Robert Burns was indeed, to recited.

An old-fashioned supper it was, indeed, to which the merry company did full justice.

There were two long tables with old-time benches, and the boys were placed on one side and the girls on the other. There was a beautiful little pig roasted whole with an apple in his mouth at one end of the table, and a roasted 'possum surrounded by sweet potatoes at the other. There were splendid turkeys and whole bolled hams and hominy and sausage and everything good that we remember so happily as belonging to the days of our childhood.

The desert was hot ginger bread and mo-member so happily as belonging to the days of our childhood.

The desert was hot ginger bread and molasses candy and jelly and preserves, and in the hallway was a scoured pine table with buckets full of fresh cider and long-handled gourds to dip it out with.

After supper the Halloween games began. The gentlemen ran a corn-shucking race for a hickory cane and the ladies peeled apples for a big homespun aprön. The young folks popped corn and chestnuts and pulled candy. Later in the evening the guests were invited to partake of a delicious desert of pound cake and syllabub and tipsy square. This was beautifully arranged on a table in the sitting room, a tall pyramid eake forming the center piece, while the syllabub was plied in great bowls. All the ladies made lovely pictures in their old-time dresses, and Mrs. Hemphill was very handsome in a fine flowered gown with old-time ornaments and her hair curied as she wore it when a girl.

Miss Lula Bell Hemphill was pretty as an old-time picture in an empire gown of figured red material. Her hair was worn high and powered and she carried a superb bouques of La France and Marechal Niel roses.

The entertainment ended with the old-fashioned game called twistification and every The entertainment ended with the old-fash-ioned game called twistification and every guest departed with the wish that the good old times would be with them always as they, had been for that one merry evening.

PRESIDENT. HART

Will Guide the Southern League of Baseball.

DURING THE NEXT YEAR'S SEASON

The Number of Clubs Increased to Twelve and Four More Cities Admitted. Yesterday's Meeting.

Charley Hart, of Atlanta, is president of the Southern League of baseball clubs. And no better, more thoroughly equipped president could any league have than Mr.

Hart is sure to make. He is one of Atlanta's representative young men who has made a most enviable reputation throughout the state and in whom all Atlanta has the most implicit confidence.

Mr. Hart was elected president of the league at the annual meeting yesterday, and every delegate left for his home last night absolutely sure that the south would have better baseball next summer than ever before. That meeting which resulted in Mr. Hart's election convened yesterday morning in parlor 104, Kimball house, those in attendance being:

contest and the applicants for new membership to complete the unfinished business. annual reports of President Genslinger, who was then in the chair, were submitted to a committee composed of the representatives of Macon, Atlanta and Montgomery.

That committee after a careful examination submitted a report showing that the accounts and books were in good shape and well balanced.

The pennant, for the second series was awarded to Birmingham. The question as to the disposition of the first pennant was left to a committee composed of Montgomery, Macon and Memphis.

Mr. Ross Smith, of Charleston, assured the meeting that his city was ready for baseball, that the association had been formed with ample financial backing and asked for a franchise.

The Nashville franchise was given Mr. Sullivan, he surrendering his Chattanooga franchise to Mr. L. G. Walker and his associates from that city. These gentlemen were at once admitted to the meeting to represent Chattanooga.

Macon, Birmingham and Memphis were appointed a committee on schedule.

The pay of umpires was fixed at $150 a month and each club was required to put up a guarantee of $250 by January 1st to play the season out.

The salary limit was fixed at $1,000 with a penalty for violation attached, that penalty being a forfeiture of all games in which a player who receives more than the limit participates.

The Spalding ball was adopted for '93. The season will begin April 10th and close September 10th.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the president. But before the adjournment this resolution presented by the committee appointed was adopted:

Resolved, That the members of the Southern League, as clubs and as individuals, appreciate to the full the splendid services rendered the league by our retiring president, Mr. C. H. Genslinger, and we take this method of returning our thanks to him and of expressing our confidence in his ability and integrity.

THE REAPPORTIONMENT QUESTION-Mr. Fleming Admits the Existing Inequality

Mr. Fleming Admits the Existing Inequality

But Pauses for Policy.

Editor Constitution—Excuse me for a few words in regard to your able editorial this morning on the "reapportionment question."

I would not trouble you at all on the subject except for the fact that in quoting my interview you inadvertently omitted from the body of it an entire paragraph which was, perhaps, the most important part of the whole. I shall quote it presently.

1. You demur to my statement that "our friends are on the wrong track" in seeking to reapportion the members of the house by a simple legislative act, and you take the position that in advocating a reapportionment you have always understood that a constitutional amendment would be necessary. My excuse for inferring that you supposed a simple statute would answer is to be found in the fact that in the several editorials you have written on the subject and the several communications or clippings you have published, no intimation was given of any constitutional question being involved, or of any ratification by popular vote being necessary. It was treated throughout as a subject for legislative attention without mentioning the constitution or the people. If fear others fell into the same error I did. But whether this legal point was clear to you before or has sluce become so, is only a side issue and of but little concern to the public.

2. The serious practical question is, shall any one in the present legislature endeavor to get together a two-thirds vote to amend the constitution so as to reapportion the members of the house and thus force that question at once into the next state election for ratification or rejection by the people.

I am very clear in my conviction that no such attempt should be made. There are many reasons. I will mention two: First, In my opinion the attempt will fall, both in the general assembly and before the people; second, such a movement is most inopportune at this time, as it involves the transfer of political power, to a greater or less degree, fr their power in legislation? If they ever deserved special consideration they deserve it now.

Such an issue would prove a source of great irritation in all the country counties of the state in the next election. It would be made a rallying cry for the third party if that party should be in existence at that time. It would introduce discord where harmony now reigns. You kindly suggest, Mr. Editor, that I could do "a great work for the state" in pressing such a reapportionment measure in the house. I beg to differ with you. I think the practical results would be entirely bad.

3. The partial remedy which I did point out as being more attainable and more free from irritating issues, was contained in the following paragraph which was inadvertently omitted by you in quoting my interview: "Can nothing be done then at present to meet the difficulty?" asked the reporter. "Only in this way," replied Mr. Fleming. "By changing the senatorial districts and thus giving the upper house the power to check the lower house. The constitution expressly provides that the general assembly may change the senatorial districts after each census of the United States, provided that the number of districts and the number of districts and the number of senators from each district shall not be increased. These districts could be reapportioned on the basis of population by a majority vote of both houses."

The irregularity of representation in the senate is just as glaring as it is in the house. But the former can be remedied by a majority vote of the general assembly, as provided, and I might say, suggested in the constitution; while the latter will require a two-thirds vote of the general assembly and ratification by the people. The senate could check the house just as easily as the house could check the senate. In fact the senate has the power of confirming or rejecting the governor's appointments which the house has not.

It is evident, therefore, that if either branch and only one branch of the general assembly is to be put on a popular basis of representation, the senate is the one most accessible to any attempt within the lines of the constitution.

any attempt within the lines of the constitution.

But you quote me properly as saying that "it is not at all probable that even the senators will vote away their own power." One of my reasons for making that remark is that I introduced into the last house a carefully prepared bill to reapportion the senatorial districts more nearly on the basis of population as permitted and suggested by the constitution, but the senate would not even appoint a joint committee to consider it.

It is well for the people to be reminded of this inequality, but as a matter of practical business I think both those questions—certainly the one involving a reapportionment of the house, will have to await action by the next constitutional convention that may be called in Georgia. I would deprecate any attempt to pass in this general assembly a bill to amend the constitution on that line. Very truly,

POND'S EXTRACT will find and will allay it. It is invaluable for CATARRH, PILES, COLDS, SORE EYES, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, RHEU-MATISM, WQUNDS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, all HEMORRHAGES and INFLAMMATIONS. REFUSE SUBSTITUTES. Consine goods manufactured only by Pend's Extract Co., 76 Pitth Avenue, Nov.

The only safe way for purchasers is to insist on having the genuine article, and not allow themselves to be swindled by having plasters said to be "just as good," or "containing superior ingredients," imposed upon them. These are only tricks to sell inferior goods that no more compare with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS than copper does with gold.

One trial of Allcock's Porous Plasters will convince the most skeptical of their merits.

The eminent HENRY A. MOTT, Jr., Ph.D., F.C.S., late Government Chemist, certifies:

"My investigation of Allcock's Porous Plaster shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepre sentation. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or expla nation induce you to accept a substitute.

SITTING IN THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR!

Georgia Democracy.

The Revised List of Democratic Votes in the Tenth District-Gossip Caught at Demogratic Headquarters.

The work at democratic headquarters roes on with a rush as the election draws Chairman Atkinson and Mr. Henry Cohen, of Augusta who has in hand a great deal of the work of managing Major Black's campaign in the tenth of late days held another conference yesterday changing the s of some of the rallies as arranged rday and doing much else relevant to he work in that warring district.

Many letters pour into the committee rooms from all sections of Georgia expos-ing the wicked little schemes of the third partyites in their desperate attempt to catch the negro vote. They realize their defeat in every congressional district and have grown very desperate in their methods of nding up the campaign.

mining up the campaign.

Here is a letter which reached demoratic headquarters yesterday:

Carnesville, Ga., October 31.—Hon. W. Y.
Atkinson, Chairman, etc. My Dear sir: The serves in this county are holding secret meetings and pledging themselves to support Robblish the third party candidate for congress, Many of them are being led to believe that Robbins is a republican. The scheme is, of course, being worked and planned by the white third partyites. They are pledged to servey and advised to do their work (as one of their white leaders told) "secret like Indians." The same questionable schemes are doubtless being used in other and perhaps all of the congressional districts, I thought it proper to write you. Sincerely yours, Chairman Democratic Executive Committee.

Chairman Democratic Executive Co There are many other little tricks of this kind now afoot in the ranks of the third party people, but of course they are quickly ed and won't go down. How He Works.

How He Works.

Chairman Atkinson devotes much attention to the work of democratic headquarters even while he sits in the speaker's chair in the house of representatives.

His assistants confer with him there during the day and while the clerk and the house are busy with the reading and the hearing of some long bill Chairman Bill dictates hundreds of letters to democratic campaigners throughout the state.

The work goes on with satisfactory results, too, for since this democratic campaign of education has started hundreds have flopped from third partyism back upon the safe shores of democracy.

Headquarters are always well filled with prominent politicians.

CHANGING THE MAP.

Commencing last Sunday the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway and Western and Atlantic railway inaugurated a double daily line of through sleeping cars between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla., via the Central railroad, the Georgia Southern and Florida, and Florida Central and Peninsular railroad.

ular railroad. This marks a most radical change in rail-This marks a most radical change in railroad maps. Never before has the Western and Atlantic railroad worked any business into or out of Florida, except via the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, and white the management of the Western and Atlantic strenuously disclaim any intention of not working cordinally with the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, yet it is a fact that their through car line to Florida is with the Florida Central and Peninsular.

Pullman vestibule sleeping cars will leave Nashville daily at 7:40 a. m. and 9:05 p. m. Leave Chattanooga at 2:20 p. m. and 2:20 a. m. Arrive in Jacksonville, Fla., at 7:40 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

These schedules promise for the Florida tourist from the west accommodations which they have never enjoyed.

The delays to trains between western policy.

The delays to trains between western points and Fiorlda have grown proverbial.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway has determined to have a line to Florida which will not be dependent upon meetions but will give to the Florida tourist every comfort and facility for reaching his destination.

The general massangers grown of the Western his destination.

The general passenger agent of the Western and Atlantic railway says that they have made no paper schedule nor do they promise any extraordinary time, but have a schedule which will be made every day in the week, and passengers leaving Chattanoga and Nashville at a certain hour will know for for a certainty at what time they will arrive in Jacksonville.

There is considerable guessing as to what the other lines will do to meet this competition. The breaking away from the Savannah, Florida and Western moorings will be watched with great interest.

Other Changes.

ed with great interest.

Other Changes.

Train No. 2 will leave Atlanta at 1:20 p. m.; arrive at Chattanooga at 6 p. m., making close connection for Nashville, arriving at Nushville at 10:50 p. m., and also making close connection for Cincinnati, arriving at Cinnicnati at 7:20 a. m.

Train No 4 will leave Atlanta at 8:20 p. m. arrive at Chattanooga 1:30 p. m.

Train No. 3 will leave Chattanooga at 2:20 a. m. and arrive in Atlanta at 6:50 a. m.

"Peaceful Valley" Tonight. "Peaceful Valley" Tonight.

To many theater-goers there are no more pleasurable events than the annual visits of that quaint comedian, Sol Smith Russell. Though an actor who wisely has his plays written to suit his distinct individuality, both he and his plays seem to leave nothing lacking toward a satisfactory diversion. Mr. Russell will appear at the opera house on today and Wednesday. He will be seen in what is declared to be the greatest success of his life. "Peaceful Valley," written expressly for Mr. Russell by Edward E. Kidder, author of "A Poor Relation." The play is founded on the actor's personal observations of that class of typical Americans from which Lincoln, Webster, Greeley, Garfield and others, have sprung.

ster, Greeley, Garfield and others, have sprung.

In "Hosea Howe," the chief character in "Peaceful Valley," Sol Smith Russell has found, so we are informally told, a character exactly suited to him. It is doubted if any other actor before the public could so fully and completely embody this type of man. Mr. Russell can for he knows him and sympathizes with him. He is familiar with every attitude every motion, every look, every intonation of Hosea Howe. This character is not a trivial character. It is full of wit, philosophy and gentle humor. The play is full of good moral tone without moralizing.

Mr. Russell's company this season includes some well known artists: Frank E. Alken, Earle Stirling, Charles Canfield, Miss Minnle Badcliff, Marion Abbott, and Adole Palmer. "Peaceful Valley" will be repeated at matinee tomorrow and "A Poor Relation" will be given at night.

The Memphis Avalanche of last Tuesday said of the performance:

"Mr. Sol Smith Russell appeared at the Grand opera house last night in his new play, "Peaceful Valley." The audience was very large, the auditorium being well filled in every part, showing that the increased prices had had no effect on the patronage.

Warde-James Grand Combination Coming.

Wards-James Grand Combination Coming-

Warde-James Grand Combination ComingOn the eve of that great theatrical event our readers will read with Interest the following editorial of the Washington, D. C., Post of last September, 18th.
"The association of Mr. Frederick Warde and Mr. Louis James for the purpose of presenting on a magnificient scale the productions of Shakespeare and other classic authors is an arrangement upon which the American public is to be congratulated. Both men are strong, and at the same time their stage managers are so different is to give versatility to every production in which they appear."

"Alabama." "Alabama." Augustus Thomas's great play comes to the opera house on Friday evening. If it is not the best play ever written in or of America, it is certainly second to no American production. In delicacy of shading, exquisite color, pathos, quaint humor, true poetry and fine sentiment, it is one of the most delightful dramas ever staged. There is no death in it, little of human suffering, little of shadow, yet much of deep purpose, earnestness and feeling. In character acting probably nothing has yet been seen upon the American stage that can surpass the uniform excellence of Mr. A. M. Palmer's great company of players.

Charles Hanford.

Shakespeare's great historical tragedy, "Julius Caesar," will be presented at the Edgewood avenue theater for two nights and Saturday matinee, beginning with Friday night next, by Charles B. Hanford's company of tragedians. Mr. Hanford is a new "star" but an old actor. He has had twelve years' experience, four of it having been spent with Edwin Booth and the late Lawrence Barrett. It was while Mr. Hanford was with this company that he achieved the splendid reputation he now possesses. As Marc Antony Hanford's performances were evenly criticised with that of Booth and Barrett. The amount of praise meted out to him by the newspapers was deserved according to their ideas, and his subsequent ascent to his present high position has proved that their opinions were correct. As Marc Antony, Mr. Hanford made the success of his life. Of his performance of this part The Omaha World of April 10, 1888, says:

"Before the curtain rose on the tragedy of Julius Caesar' at Boyd's last night the audience might have cast about in vain to decide who among the many younger actors of the day will take the place of Booth and Barrett when, after a few years, they retire. Booth is fifty-three years old, and his face, his voice and his bearing already give signs of decay. Barrett is only a few years younger. Who will succeed these great tragedians? When Marc Antony had finised his great oration over Julius Caesar last night and Charles B. Hanford twice came, before the curtain to

Barrett is only a few years younger. Who will succeed these great tragedlans? When Marc Antony had finised his great oration over Julius Caesar last night and Charles B. Hanford twice came before the curtain to acknowledge the enthusiastic applause of the audience, the successor of the great actors was revealed. Hanford is favored with a physique which might be a sculptor's model. His splendidly developed body is crowned by a well-shaped head. His rendering of the hackneyed lines was powerful and realistic. When training shall have given this younger actor the fine finish which only experience can give, he will become, so The World predicts, a wonderful actor. Indeed, he is already a great actor. If his performance last ready a great actor. If his performance last night he any criterion. Hanford will in time, become a dramatic star of the first magnitude. The price for these performances will be 25c, 50c, and $1.

Complimentary Resolutions.

Mr. C. N. Kight is one of the most popular railroad men in Atlanta. Several days ago he received the following letter in reference to his Washington special vestibule train: On G. A. R. Georgia and Florida Special, Nearing Washington, October 12, 1892.—Mr. Charles N. Kight, A. G. P. A., E. T. V. and G. R'y., Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir: The undersigned, representing a committee appointed by the occupants of the G. A. R. train, as indicated in the heading, to draft resolutions complimentary to yourself and Colonel Carrier, on account of persistent efforts to insure our trip to Washington being a specially desirable one, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the occupants of the R. T. W. Weshing.

rier, on account of persistent efforts to insure our trip to Washington being a specially desirable one, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the occupants of this G. A. R. train en route to Washington, be extended to Mr. Charles N. Kight, assistant general passenger agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway, for his untiring efforts to make our trip a pleasant one, and magnificent service provided.

Also to the considerate care exercised by Colonel A. B. Carrier, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. Frank M. Jolly, district passenger agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway, with headquarters at Jacksonville, Fla., which has resulted in us having one of the most delightful trips in the history of the G. A. R. movements from the south to their annual encampment.

We also desire to incorporate in this our estimate of the scenery and other attractions in the Shenandoah valley, prominent among which are the Luray caverns, representing a line of attractions which cannot be duplicated this side of the Rocky mountains. Yours very truly, Beresford Failed to Release.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

Will Be the Next Court, Probably, Before Which Lord Beresford Will Appear.

Lord Beresford's habeas corpus case may soon become one of national fame. Yesterday morning Judge Newman remanded Beresford to the custody of the sheriff of Floyd county.

No sooner had the decision been rendered than Colonel W. C. Glenn, Beresford's attorney, appealed the case to be carried to the supreme court of the United States. But Judge Newman has not yet granted

Today the question as to what recourse Beresford will have is to be decided. Judge Newman was not fully decided yesterday as to whether Colonel Glenn's remedy was by appeal to the appellate court or by writ of error to the supreme court, but will render his decision today.

Judge Newman's Review.

On the opening of court yesterday morning Judge Newman arrested the argument in the case on the inquiry as to whether or not, in any view that might be taken of the law, as to whether this defendant could be tried for a different offense than that for which he was extradited, if he would not still be in the legal custody of the sheriff in the other case for cheating and swind-ling. After some short discussion of the matter the judge stated that he did not think, until there was an authoritative decision by the supreme court, that anybody could be very certain that they were right on the main question that has been argued here. It would be debatable either way; and whatever might be true about that, if the court finds independent of that question that the relator is held by the officer in legal custody, that there would be but one course to pursue, and that would be to remand him to the custody of the officer who has charge of him on legal process.

"I have given the matter very careful thought," said Judge Newman, "and consideration. It is an interesting question and a serious one to this relator of course. The conclusion expressed a while ago is one, it seems to me, inevitable. I am unable to see how it would be proper to make any such order as Mr. Glenn suggests, as that would be going out of my way to review the decision of the supreme court of Georgia.

"The question for determination is now matter the judge stated that he did not that would be going out of my way to review the decision of the supreme court of Georgia.

"The question for determination is now on this writ, as to whether the petitioner is held in legal custody, and there being no attack whatever on the right of the sheriff to hold him under the indictment for cheating and swindling, he is in legal custody unquestionably, so far as that is concerned. I think therefore, that my duty is very clear, and that is to have an order entered remanding the petitioner to the custody of the sheriff of Floyd county, Georgia."

Lord Beresford will be brought before Judge Newman this morning when his attorneys will make application for an appeal to the United States Supreme court, and also for bail.

The case of "cheating and swindling" still standing against him on the docket of Floyd superior court will be again called at the adjourned term on the 9th, and, as a demand was taken by Beresford last term, he will be entitled to a discharge, unless the state decides to try the case. A trial is out of the question, as the facts are identical with the forgery charge.

Had this case been disposed of before the writ of habeas corpus was applied for, it is probable that Lord Beresford would be at liberty today.

His lordship, in the company of Sheriff be at liberty today.

His lordship, in the company of Sheriff Moore, of Rome, slept at the Kimball last night and will return to Rome this afternoon.

His stay in jail, however, will not be of long duration, as he will give bond in a few days.

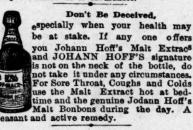

Permanent Receiver Haskins.

Judge Newman appointed Charles W. Haskins temporary receiver of the Augusta Mining and Investment Company, the permanent receiver of that corporation The appointment was made yesterday morning.

Mr. Haskins was appointed temporary receiver of the company three weeks ago on the application of Joseph Reinhardt and others. This morning on an application for a permanent receiver Judge Newman simply appointed Mr. Haskins.
